RIVER SPAN TO COST APPROXIMATELY $200,000; WORK THROUGH WINTER

HEARING BY WAR DEPARTMENT
HERE TODAY FINDS NO OBJECTIONS TO SITE

Assured by Col. Wildurr Willing of the U. S. Engineer's office, St. Paul, that he would immediately submit a favorable report to the War Department since there are no objections to the bridge by navigation interests, M. J. Hoffman, bridge engineer for the Minnesota Highway Department, informed the Brainerd Dispatch at the close of the bridge hearing this afternoon that plans would be speeded for the early start of construction.

The bridge will span the Mississippi river at the west end of Main Street and will serve the new route of State Trunk Highway No. 2.

Mr. Hoffman estimated that the bridge will cost approximately $200,000. It will be concrete throughout and will be constructed to serve the demand for heavy traffic on this key highway, fed by traffic leading four directions.

"We expect to advertise for bids in October and let the contract in November. We will specify in the contract that the work be started immediately and continued until its completion. We are doing this to aid in relief of the unemployed," Mr. Hoffman said.

Mr. Hoffman was of the opinion that the bridge would be completed and ready for traffic September 15, 1932.

At the present time the State Highway Department is completing work preparatory to submitting plans and the calling for bids. Two churn drill outfits are today working in the river to determine the exact foundation conditions.

The bridge hearing conducted by Col. Willing this afternoon in the council chambers of the city hall found no objections to the bridge or its location.

Harry W. Cregar, Brainerd mayor, in a letter, heartily endorsed the construction at its proposed site and urged that work be started as early as possible and that the railway be favored in the transportation of material.

Only three persons other than Col. Willing, his secretary and clerk, and the press were in attendance at the hearing. They were: Mr. Hoffman, C. O. Harholdt, maintenance engineer of the state, and City Engineer R. T. Campbell.

Col. Willing read into the record documents concerning the call of the meeting, sanction given by Congress to the state to building the bridge and regulations concerning the construction of bridges as concerning the War Department.

The letter of Mayor Cregar was the only evidence submitted and the hearing adjourned less than 15 minutes after it started.

"I've looked over the plans and I see no reason why I cannot submit a favorable report to the War Department. Apparently there are no objections. We shall act as quickly as we can," Col. Willing promised.

IN THE CASE

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 3.—(UP)—Exhibits purporting to show that W. B. Foshay and his business associates in a $30,000,000 utility concern drew bonuses of nearly a half a million dollars in one year were on display today in Judge Joseph W. Molyneux's court.

The records were introduced by Fred Horowitz, special government prosecutor, after Foshay's attorneys had made strenuous objections. Judge Molyneux ruled that the evidence was admissible.

Horowitz said the exhibits showed the seven defendants on trial for using the mail to defraud had been paid the bonuses although government income tax records showed the W. B. Foshay Company was not making money during the year of 1925 when the bonuses were paid.

Josiah E. Brill, attorney for Foshay, contended that the question of bonuses was not mentioned in the indictment.

"If it is offered on the theory of un-sound business practices, then many topics not specifically alleged in the indictment could be brought into this case," Brill said.

Horowitz replied that the records were offered because the government planned to show the defendants' connection with a "scheme" to defraud and their felonious intent. He said the prosecution had the right to show the defendants had "a scheme to defraud, to show what was in their minds, and that among other things they voted themselves a bonus of about $500,000."

Judge Molyneux allowed the evidence to be admitted on the grounds that the essential allegations were that there was a scheme to defraud and the mails were used to carry out the scheme.

Prosecution and defense attorneys clashed again over alleged intimidation of a government witness. Brill admitted to the court that he would attempt to show through questioning of L. H. London, former Foshay employee, that the prosecution had sought to intimidate witnesses.

Brill had the witness give in detail his conversation with Horowitz at their first interview after the collapse of the Foshay Company. Horowitz and Brill clashed repeatedly over the line of questioning.

48-HOUR WEEK

CAUSE

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 3.—(UP)—Judge Hugo O. Hanft today signed an alternate writ of mandamus directing Highway Commissioner C. M. Babcock either to abolish the 48-hour week for highway employees or show cause.

The writ was obtained by two contractors and orders Babcock to appear Oct. 10. The contractors were the R. B. Frazer Construction Co., Faribault, and Erickson-Johnson Construction Co., Minneapolis.

The 48-hour week for highway workers which also provides a provision for a minimum wage of 45 cents an hour was issued early this spring by Governor Floyd B. Olson.

In the petition for the writ, the contractors base their claims upon a contention that the governor's order is unfair upon contractors using horse drawn equipment.

HEAVY CASUALTIES
FROM OVERFLOWING

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 3.—(UP)—Heavy casualties were believed today to have resulted from the overflowing of the Portuguese river, flooding the lower part of the town of Ponce.

The dead were estimated at from 10 to as high as 200. The All-American cable office reported 10 bodies recovered. The Ponce correspondent of the newspaper Al Dia reported 25 dead.

Capt. Antonio Silva, Red Cross director, went to the scene with a relief force.

Two days of heavy rain caused the flood.

IRISH AND BULLDOG
CAUSE ROBBERS TO BEAT HASTY RETREAT

Chicago, Sept. 3.—(UP)—The Kelleys from Ireland and the bulldogs from anywhere have long been famed in fiction for their fighting ability. But the fighting ability of Mrs. Anna Kelley and her bulldog, Queenie, wasn't fiction. Two would-be robbers found that out.

The robbers tried to hold up Mrs. Kelley at her rooming house. She fought back. Queenie jumped into the fight without an invitation. She took a bite at one of the robbers, missed, and bit Mrs. Kelley instead. Mrs. Kelley then bit one of the bandits.

The would-be bandits escaped, but if police see them they won't be hard to recognize because between Mrs. Kelley and Queenie the men were both rather badly chewed.

COUNT VON BUELOW,
ACE OF GERMAN
SPIES, TO BE FREEDWAS STAR OF GERMAN ESPION-AGE SYSTEM DURING THE WORLD WARWAS MORE RECENTLY A HEAD
WAITER AT STATE PRISON,
CANON CITY, COLO.

Canon City, Colo., Sept. 3.—(UP)—Count Karl Von Buelow, ace of German espionage system during the world war, but more recently a head waiter at the state penitentiary here, was to be freed today.

The freedom was to be only technical, however, as a cell in the county jail awaited him, at the request of federal immigration authorities who will seek to deport the one-time spy.

Von Buelow, man of mystery during the hectic war days when he was the chief aide of Capt. Karl Boy-Ed, director of the German intelligence service, has served two years and three months of a prison sentence for forgery.

Abandoned by his own country, where political changes are said to have made him unwanted, Von Buelow is literally a man without a country.

Given his choice, he says he will go to Vera Cruz, Mexico, where he claims to have holdings sufficient to enable him "to live like a gentleman."

The spy entered the United States aboard a German liner, posing as a steward. Once here, he became known as "the man with a thousand faces." Purportedly a master at the art of disguise, the son of a noble German family played his part as a laborer, a business man, a longshoreman, a wealthy wastrel, changing from one to the other without apparent difficulty as he worked in the interest of the Imperial government.

He finally was captured at Elko, Nev., where he was working as a laborer, and imprisoned at Fort Douglas, Utah.

After the war he dropped from sight until he was arrested at Ogden, Nev., in 1925 for robbery. He served a short term in the Utah state prison, and then dropped again from sight until his arrest in Colorado Springs, Colo., in February, 1929, on forgery charges. He was convicted and sent here to prison.

The "Lon Chaney" of the spy service apparently has suffered little change despite the vagaries of his career.

He still retains all the suavity which enabled him to mingle with every class, and has still the distinguished appearance which enabled him to hobnob with the elite of the United States.

New York, Sept. 3.—No let-up occurred in selling pressure on the stock exchange today.

Aided by several additional adverse developments over night, bears had little difficulty in forcing leading shares to further lows for the current movement.

Losses averaged about a point in the more active issues but a few shares affected by special developments broke precipitately. J. I. Case was among this group, opening 5 5/8 points lower at 52 1/2 on suspension of the 36 annual common dividend rate last night. Subsequently, 5,000 shares changed hands at this price and then the stock slumped to a new low for the year at 51 1/4.

Tokio, Sept. 3.—(UP)—The Japanese government today issued a permit to Don Moyle, Los Angeles "jail or glory" flier, and C. A. Allen, his companion, to attempt a non-stop flight across the Pacific ocean.

The fliers had their plane City of Tacoma II in readiness and planned to start at once for Sabishiro Beach, where they will begin the perilous journey.

Moyle and Allen already have officially entered the Asahi newspapers contest, in which the first pilot to make a non-stop flight between Japan and America will be given $25,000.

Meanwhile, Hugh Herndon Jr., and Clyde Pangborn still waited government action on their application for a permit to attempt the trans-Pacific journey. Preliminary permits have been granted despite recent trouble with authorities over photographs of the two made of military fortifications, and the fliers hoped to receive final approval in a short time.

The fliers already are at work on their plane, in which they flew from New York to Tokio through Russia, and if the permit is granted before Moyle and Allen depart they may race them across the ocean.

A. R. Benken, president, refused to open the vault and disregarded the bandit's threats to shoot.

Two of the robbers forced Benken, two employees and three customers to lie on the floor. They scooped up cash from the cages. Then one of them prodded Benken with a revolver and said:

"Open up the vault."

"It has a time lock and can't be opened until 4 p. m.," Benken answered.

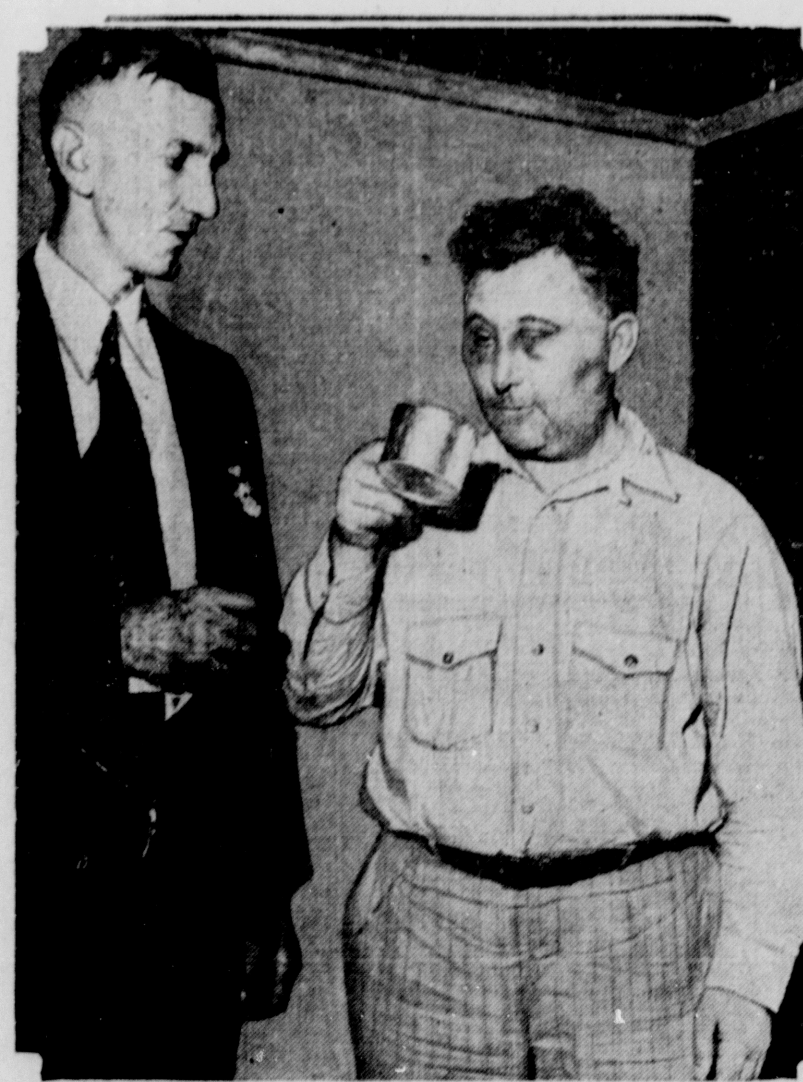

"Come on, open it up," the bandit leader snarled.

Again the president refused.

"All right, then shoot him," the second robber commanded.

The gun wielder hesitated, as if to carry out his instructions to shoot. Then he turned and fled. His companion followed.

SECRETARY OF STATE
ARRIVES IN NEW YORK FROM EUROPEPLEASED WITH "FRIENDLY, CON-CILIATORY SPIRIT" BETWEEN EUROPEAN COUNTRIESGERMANY "HAS RECEIVED NEW SPIRIT OF COURAGE AND CONFIDENCE"

New York, Sept. 3.—(UP)—Secretary of State Herbert L. Stimson arrived on the Leviathan today with a prediction of a new era of political peace and goodwill in the world.

He was particularly pleased, he said, with the "friendly and conciliatory spirit" between European countries, especially between France and Germany. Germany, he said, "has received a new spirit of courage and confidence."

The secretary, asked about the present financial situation in Europe, issued the following statement:

"The month which has elapsed since the close of the seven-power conference in London has given us a chance to begin to appraise the results of that conference and of the various meetings which preceded and have followed it. From the information which has come to me I believe that Germany has received a new spirit of courage and confidence. The result of the recent plebiscite in Prussia, the fact that the day when the German banks reopened the deposits exceeded the withdrawals, together with many other similar indications, all point to more hopeful conditions and spirit."

"Even more encouraging have been the meetings of the French and German ministers and the friendly and conciliatory spirit in which Prime Minister Laval and Chancellor Bruening have begun to discuss the vital political questions which divided their countries. The same is true of the meetings which have been held between the ministers of Germany and Britain and of Germany and Italy. Such informal meetings constitute the most effective method of approaching and discussing these political problems, and until they are thus approached in such spirit, any thorough economic rehabilitation of central Europe is almost impossible."

"I think there is now good reason to believe that these European statesmen, taking advantage of the respite granted by Mr. Hoover's moratorium as well as the recommendations of the London conference, are beginning gradually to lay the foundations of political goodwill, upon which a lasting structure of peace and economic prosperity can finally be rested."

"It was very evident in each of the countries I visited that the spirit and policy of the president's moratorium was highly appreciated and was proving helpful in many directions."

Also on the Leviathan was General John J. Pershing.

FARM BUREAU'S REPRESENTATIVES AT I. C. C. HEARINGS

ARGUE FOR REPEAL OF SECTION 15-A OF TRANSPORTA- TION ACT

GIVES RAILWAYS RIGHT TO RATES, TO PRODUCE INCOME 5 3/4 PER CENT

Chicago, Sept. 3.—(UP)—Representatives of farm bureaus appearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission planned to argue today for repeal of section 15-A of the transportation act which gives railroads a theoretical right to rates that will produce an income of 5 3/4 per cent on their investment.

Armed with figures tending to show that the farm industry is in a depressed condition, the farmer-spokesmen said they would ask that no more industries be guaranteed earnings unless agriculture also has some assurance of a justifiable return.

They contended that while the farm board is trying to lift farming out of this depression, another branch of the government—the commerce commission—was being asked to push it down.

The arguments were to be made at the fourth day's session of a hearing on a petition of railroad executives for a 15 per cent horizontal increase in freight rates. The other hearings have been held in various cities throughout the country.

Testimony at yesterday's session developed a question of whether the proposed rates increases actually would produce additional revenue. Although carrier representatives argued that it would, shippers contended that so much business would be diverted, through competitive traffic and decentralization of industry, that the roads would lose business.

Another question raised at the hearing here was whether it was good public policy to impose a new burden on industry in a time of depression. Railroad executives admit that their act is unprecedented but they point out that unless aid is given the roads, it will result in government ownership.

W. J. Mathey, traffic manager of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, testified that any increase in rates would have a serious effect on rail movement of newsprint. He produced figures showing that a rate increase probably would cause diversion of at least 325,000 tons of newsprint freight to water routes and this amount would wipe out any increased revenue for the railroads.

BOLSTAD TAKEN ILL DURING MATCH

DEVELOPS HIGH FEVER, OFFI- CIALS GIVE HIM HALF HOUR REST IN NATIONAL PLAY

Beverly Country Club, Chicago, Sept. 3.—(UP)—Lester Bolstad, Minneapolis, who was 2 up on Billy Boutell, Richmond, Va., at the end of today's morning round, in the National Amateur Golf Championship, was taken suddenly ill during the lunch hour and was unable to take off at 2 P. M. as scheduled.

Dr. W. C. Doepf attended Bolstad and found he had a high fever. U. S. G. A. officials agreed to give Bolstad 30 minutes' rest and scheduled the start of the afternoon round of his match at 2:30 P. M.

After his rest period, Bolstad felt better and teed off at 2:41 P. M. on the afternoon round in his match with Howell.

Beverly Country Club, Chicago, Sept. 3.—Billy Howell, 18, Richmond, Va., and Paul Jackson, 21, Kansas City, Mo., the two youngest players left in the National Amateur Golf Championship, were trailing at the end of 18 holes in the 36-hole quarter final matches today.

Lester Bolstad, Minneapolis, Minn., former Big Ten and National Public Links champion, rounded the turn 2 up on young Howell, who lost complete control of his game on the second nine and finished with an 83, twelve strokes over par. Howell was 2 up on Bolstad at the end of nine holes, but could not keep out of the trap coming back and took a 44 on his second nine. Bolstad squared the match on the 14th and then won the 15th and 18th.

SECRETARY OF STATE ARRIVES IN NEW YORK FROM EUROPE

PLEASED WITH "FRIENDLY, CON- CILIATORY SPIRIT" BETWEEN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

GERMANY "HAS RECEIVED NEW SPIRIT OF COURAGE AND CONFIDENCE"

New York, Sept. 3.—(UP)—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson arrived on the Leviathan today with a prediction of a new era of political peace and goodwill in the world.

He was particularly pleased, he said, with the "friendly and conciliatory spirit" between European countries, especially between France and Germany. Germany, he said, "has received a new spirit of courage and confidence."

The secretary, asked about the present financial situation in Europe, issued the following statement:

"The month which has elapsed since the close of the seven-power conference in London has given us a chance to begin to appraise the results of that conference and of the various meetings which preceded and have followed it. From the information which has come to me I believe that Germany has received a new spirit of courage and confidence. The result of the recent plebiscite in Prussia, the fact that the day when the German banks reopened the deposits exceeded the withdrawals, together with many other similar indications, all point to more hopeful conditions and spirit."

"Even more encouraging have been the meetings of the French and German ministers and the friendly and conciliatory spirit in which Prime Minister Laval and Chancellor Bruening have begun to discuss the vital political questions which divided their countries. The same is true of the meetings which have been held between the ministers of Germany and Britain and of Germany and Italy. Such informal meetings constitute the most effective method of approaching and discussing these political problems, and until they are thus approached in such spirit, any thorough economic rehabilitation of central Europe is almost impossible."

"I think there is now good reason to believe that these European statesmen, taking advantage of the respite granted by Mr. Hoover's moratorium as well as the recommendations of the London conference, are beginning gradually to lay the foundations of political goodwill, upon which a lasting structure of peace and economic prosperity can finally be rested."

"It was very evident in each of the countries I visited that the spirit and policy of the president's moratorium was highly appreciated and was proving helpful in many directions."

Also on the Leviathan was General John J. Pershing.

NEWLYWEDS FETED AT LADIES' NIGHT

Lions Extend Congratulations and Present Gifts to Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sweet

70 GUESTS AT DINNER DANCE
Game and Fish Commissioner Stewart Asks Cooperation in Preservation of Wild Life

Seventy guests congratulated Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sweet and showered them with gift remembrances last night as the Lions Club celebrated its annual "Ladies Night" festivities. The dinner, dance and entertainment took place at the Pine Beach hotel on Gull Lake.

The young couple, honor guests, were recently married. Each member was represented in a gift to the newlyweds while the club as a group presented them with a mahogany tea serving table.

Songs were rendered by Dr. G. I. Badaux and the Lions Club quartet. D. H. Fullerton acted as toastmaster while the program was in charge of Dr. W. A. Erickson.

The speaker of the evening was Wm. D. Stewart, State Game and Fish Commissioner, who is spending his summer vacation at his summer home on Lower Gull Lake near the Pine Beach hotel. He has had as his guest for a month Governor Floyd B. Olson.

Mr. Stewart urged cooperation of all citizens in the state of Minnesota in the preservation of wild life and spoke of the benefits to be derived by the citizens of the lake country in living here. The commissioner also stressed the importance of holding the tourist trade.

"The tourist business is the fourth largest industry in the state. It is a yearly asset of one million dollars," he said.

Scapegoats
No one likes to be a scapegoat. It is not natural or normal for anyone to carry the burden of blame that should be borne and faced by those who deserve it.

I am not sure it is not ethically wrong for a person to suffer punishment that some one else ought to suffer. At least, it isn't logical. The guilty one, apparently, goes scot-free, and without the very definite discipline of punishment, he is more than likely to do wrong again.

Sometimes we cannot avoid being a scapegoat. There are those who be in a superior position to us, and who, to save their own skin, shift the blame for some mistake on to us. That is a cowardly business. It is a mean trick to foist a failure on to some one who may not be in a position to hit back—Exchange.

MAINTENANCE OF CONFIDENCE IS EMPHASIZED

KEYNOTE OF ADMINISTRATION'S
POLICY IN ECONOMIC CON-
DITIONS VOICED

STRESS ABILITY OF COUNTRY
AND BUSINESS MEN TO RIDE
THROUGH DIFFICULTIES
By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 3.—Maintenance of confidence and restoration of it in some instances, are being emphasized in administration quarters.

Officials are declaring the administration's intention of doing whatever is necessary to maintain public confidence in the country's ability to ride through present difficulties. They also are concerned that business men do everything possible to contribute toward that confidence.

Walter S. Gifford's unemployment relief committee has called public attention to the example in California, where an effort is being made to have employers guarantee jobs so that workers will be more ready to continue normal spending. This is in line with recommendations of the American Federation of Labor executive committee.

Senator Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the republican national committee, has just called attention to the need of bankers adopting policies which will not contribute to the difficulties of the average man. As a result of a personal experience in being unable to draw some of his own funds from solvent savings institutions, Fess voiced his views in a letter to an Ohio friend.

Applying to a banker for a loan of $6,000 to build a house, the banker Fess said, threw up his hands and said, "Oh, senator, we can not make any loans at present."

Fess then turned to three loan associations in which he had deposits enough to build the house. He said he could not draw his money, not because the associations did not have it, but because they feared to drain their assets.

Fess said the country has all of the assets it ever possessed except confidence.

President Hoover has urged home construction and home improvement as one of the best means of stimulating business at this time when building materials are cheap. He has criticized the system of red tape which is thrown around home building and the difficulties of financing such modest operations. President Hoover has a commission at work on the problem now and a conference is expected to be held in the fall.

Bobby Burns' Auld Ayr

Ayr in Scotland today contains very little that Burns ever saw, but he probably passed or entered many times the old inn on High street, now called the Tam O'Shanter inn. The tourist can get a good meal there. The real "auld" attraction however is "the auld clay biggin," the ancient cottage of two small rooms, built by Burns' father in 1757, which a tramcar ride takes you to in a few minutes. It is now a Burns museum and about it are the fields the plowman poet tilled and where his songs were born. You should also see the Doon, whose bonnie banks his songs have immortalized for us all.

Ancient Cosmetics

The chemical-pharmaceutical institute of the Frankfurt university has analyzed brown and white face paints found in the vanity box of a Roman woman who lived some 1,500 years ago, and finds that their composition is almost exactly the same as that of similar cosmetics today. The only difference is that the ancient paints contain particles of metal which have since been found to be harmful to the skin. The box was found in a grave of the old Roman settlement Nida, near Frankfurt.

The Appian Way

The Appian way of Rome, the ancient Via Appia is the great granddaddy of all good roads and of noble avenues, which for ages has outshone the Unter den Linden and Fifth avenue. It stretched from Rome to Brindisi. It was built by Appius Claudius in B. C. 312 and was called the Regina Viarum, the queen of roads. Today you may walk it in Rome, flanked by its great tombs of the Scipios, Octavia, Seneca and others.

ENGLISH SPEED IN SOLVING PROBLEM OF FINANCIAL CRISIS

BALANCE BUDGET AND AR- RANGE PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

HOPE TO RUSH PASSAGE OF EM- ERGENCY MEASURES IN SITUATION

London, Sept. 3.—(U.P.)—The national government's promise of speed in meeting the financial emergency was fulfilled today. The program to balance the budget and arrangements of parliamentary procedure to rush the passage of emergency measures were concluded.

It was understood that Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald would ask for a vote of confidence in the first of the extraordinary session of parliament, Sept. 8, the first special session since the world war.

The cabinet set what was considered a peace time record by meeting four times in three days to complete the budget balancing program.

According to authoritative sources it will first introduce an economy bill, then a finance bill for additional taxation.

Fort Smith, Ark., Sept. 3.—(U.P.)—A patrolman was slain, another wounded, and three suspected bandits shot, one fatally, in a gun battle on the Oklahoma-Arkansas highway today.

The dead were W. A. Bourland, night police chief of Fort Smith, and Orr Crow, Paris, Ark., bandit suspect. Patrolman Ralph Howard and two more bandit suspects, Jess and Everett Wackerly, brothers, of Radcliffe, Ark., were wounded, but all three were expected to recover.

The gun fight occurred after J. E. Cantwell, Spiro, Okla., filling station owner, reported his station had been held up and $80 stolen. The officers were answering his call when a car carrying an Indiana license, and answering the description of that used by the bandits, passed them, going in the opposite direction.

MAINTENANCE OF CONFIDENCE IS EMPHASIZED

KEYNOTE OF ADMINISTRATION'S
POLICY IN ECONOMIC CON-
DITIONS VOICED

STRESS ABILITY OF COUNTRY
AND BUSINESS MEN TO RIDE
THROUGH DIFFICULTIES

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 3.—Maintenance of confidence and restoration of it in some instances, are being emphasized in administration quarters.

Officials are declaring the administration's intention of doing whatever is necessary to maintain public confidence in the country's ability to ride through present difficulties. They also are concerned that business men do everything possible to contribute toward that confidence.

Walter S. Gifford's unemployment relief committee has called public attention to the example in California, where an effort is being made to have employers guarantee jobs so that workers will be more ready to continue normal spending. This is in line with recommendations of the American Federation of Labor executive committees.

Senator Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the republican national committee, has just called attention to the need of bankers adopting policies which will not contribute to the difficulties of the average man. As a result of a personal experience in being unable to draw some of his own funds from solvent savings institutions, Fess voiced his views in a letter to an Ohio friend.

Applying to a banker for a loan of $6,000 to build a house, the banker Fess said, threw up his hands and said, "Oh, senator, we can not make any loans at present."

Fess then turned to three loan associations in which he had deposits enough to build the house. He said he could not draw his money, not because the associations did not have it, but because they feared to drain their assets.

Fess said the country has all of the assets it ever possessed except confidence.

President Hoover has urged home construction and home improvement as one of the best means of stimulating business at this time when building materials are cheap. He has criticized the system of red tape which is thrown around home building and the difficulties of financing such modest operations. President Hoover has a commission at work on the problem now and a conference is expected to be held in the fall.

Bobby Burns' Auld Ayr
Ayr in Scotland today contains very little that Burns ever saw, but he probably passed or entered many times the old inn on High street, now called the Tam O'Shanter inn. The tourist can get a good meal there. The real "auld" attraction however is "the auld clay biggin," the ancient cottage of two small rooms, built by Burns' father in 1757, which a tramcar ride takes you to in a few minutes. It is now a Burns museum and about it are the fields the plowman poet filled and where his songs were born. You should also see the Doon, whose bonnie banks his songs have immortalized for us all.

Ancient Cosmetics
The chemical-pharmaceutical institute of the Frankfurt university has analyzed brown and white face paints found in the vanity box of a Roman woman who lived some 1,500 years ago, and finds that their composition is almost exactly the same as that of similar cosmetics today. The only difference is that the ancient paints contain particles of metal which have since been found to be harmful to the skin. The box was found in a grave of the old Roman settlement Nida, near Frankfurt.

The Appian Way
The Appian way of Rome, the ancient Via Appia is the great granddaddy of all good roads and of noble avenues, which for ages has outshone the Unter den Linden and Fifth avenue. It stretched from Rome to Brindisi. It was built by Appian Claudius in B. C. 312 and was called the Regina Viamur, the queen of roads. Today you may walk it in Rome, flanked by its great tombs of the Scipios, Octavia, Seneca and others.

Pace Setter

Jack Westland (above), Chicago district champion, set a mad pace in the opening round of the national amateur tournament when he turned in a 33 for the first nine holes, a record for the Beverly Hills course. The young Chicagoan led the field with a 72 at the close of the first day's rounds.

HOPE TO RUSH PASSAGE OF EM-ERGENCY MEASURES IN SITUATION

London, Sept. 3.—(U.P.)—The national government's promise of speed in meeting the financial emergency was fulfilled today. The program to balance the budget and arrangements of parliamentary procedure to rush the passage of emergency measures were concluded.

It was understood that Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald would ask for a vote of confidence in the first of the extraordinary session of parliament, Sept. 8, the first special session since the world war.

The cabinet set what was considered a peace time record by meeting four times in three days to complete the budget balancing program.

According to authoritative sources it will first introduce an economy bill, then a finance bill for additional taxation.

Maybe the wedding bells will then ring for Connie and Hank.

BANDITS SHOT

Fort Smith, Ark., Sept. 3.—(U.P.)—A patrolman was slain, another wounded, and three suspected bandits shot, one fatally, in a gun battle on the Oklahoma-Arkansas highway today.

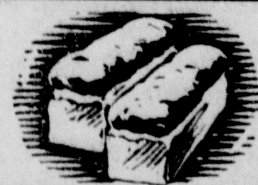

The dead were W. A. Bourland, night police chief of Fort Smith, and Orr Crow, Paris, Ark., bandit suspect. Patrolman Ralph Howard and two more bandit suspects, Jess and Everett Wackerly, brothers, of Radcliffe, Ark., were wounded, but all three were expected to recover.

The gun fight occurred after J. E. Cantwell, Spiro, Okla., filling station owner, reported his station had been held up and $80 stolen. The officers were answering his call when a car carrying an Indiana license, and answering the description of that used by the bandits, passed them, going in the opposite direction.

County Exhibit at State Fair

CROW WING county is to have a comprehensive exhibit at the State Fair and every county resident should make it a point to visit the exhibit and to register there.

County Agent E. G. Roth and his assistants have worked faithfully to gather samples of grain, vegetables, grasses, in fact all kinds of products which serve to emphasize and distinguish Crow Wing county resources.

Not so many years ago the county, through its officials and other agencies, was but poorly represented in the way of an exhibit. We remember one year when the energetic Col. Thorpe of Hubert was about the only entrant for the county and made a commendable showing with the products he raised on his experimental farm. Since then the county has made it a point to be represented by an adequate and satisfying exhibit.

To one not versed in the matter of collecting the various exhibits, there is no idea as to the patience and labor required to gather adequate samples.

Crow Wing county has made admirable progress in its cultivation of alfalfa. The Lions club of Brainerd made it one of its tenets to foster alfalfa growth and a wonderful showing was attained by interesting the young people on the farm. Due to the efforts of these farmer boys and girls, alfalfa thrived in sections never before having attempted its cultivation.

Dairying and general farming have thrived well in the county. The 4-H boys and girls work, carefully fostered, has placed Crow Wing county in the front ranks of this movement and many of their exhibits will be on display at the State Fair booth.

The State Fair is really a cross section of the whole state. One gains a quick inventory of each county, what its industries, farm wealth and other features are.

Each year the Crow Wing county exhibit has gained higher honors, due to the activity and experience gained by County Agent E. G. Roth and his assistants in collection and arrangement of the exhibits.

State Government Costs

STATE government costs as revealed by a late census report show gains, the census bureau having announced its 1930 statistics for Minnesota and North Dakota.

The payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of the Minnesota state government amounted to $37,167,418, or $14.52 per capita, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, according to the census report.

This includes $10,034,147 apportionments for education to the minor civil divisions of the state. In 1929 the per capita cost for operation and maintenance of general departments was $14.44, and in 1917, $8.15. The interest on debt in 1930 amounted to $3,647,869, and outlays for permanent improvements, $14,692,232. The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of the departments, interest and outlays, were $55,507,519.

Of the government costs reported, $16,325,126 was for highways, $4,543,772 for maintenance and $11,781,354 for construction.

The total revenue receipts were $64,412,587, or $25.16 per capita.

Under the revenues division of the summary, it is pointed out that the sales tax on gasoline amounted to $6,750,331 in 1930 and $3,678,105 in 1929, an increase of 83.5 per cent.

Those interested in the study of economics will ponder on the figures covering sales tax on gasoline. The large increase of 83.5 per cent indicates that there was no cessation in the use of cars or trucks and that in spite of any business depression there is a growing use of these vehicles.

It calls to mind the fact that a car as used nowadays is an absolute necessity to many families and not considered in the light of a luxury. When the high school was built in Brainerd, a large number of cars were parked daily at the scene of construction. Workers rode to and from employment in their cars.

Labor Day Holiday Proclaimed

MONDAY, September 7, was designated as a Labor Day holiday by Governor Floyd B. Olson in his proclamation this week.

The governor urges that not only labor but that the public generally put aside its activities for that day and ponder the rights of the workers and those who are dependent on them.

The proclamation states that "the progress and prosperity of the state and nation is measured by the success and welfare of its wage earners. It is most appropriate that one day each year be set aside for labor.

"During this period of depression and unemployment it is imperative that labor present a united front and lead the way for the enactment of those laws which will insure to all the people of this nation not only a decent living but a fair share of the comforts and luxuries of life.

"The doctrine of equality of opportunity in American government has served largely as an excuse for exploitation. There is no equality of opportunity when millions of people desiring work are unable to obtain it."

Ice House Fire Gets Publicity

THE ice house fire at Big Lake, on Trunk Highway No. 3 south of Brainerd, gained publicity in the Evening Graphic of New York, issue of August 29. The picture shows waterlogged, fire eaten walls with rows and rows of melting ice cakes.

The script read: "Natives of Big Lake, Minn., in the North Woods country where they still pack ice in sawdust for the coming summer, got chance to see that paradoxical sight when this ice house burned. The pyramided cakes didn't burn far, however. There's still enough to cool a lot of drinks."

The fire was a spectacular one and, the ice house being so near the cement pavement, was witnessed by many tourists passing through Big Lake.

It did not take the wife of Mahatma Gandhi long to pack his suit case for his trip to London. The Mahatma wears only his loin cloth.

THE growing use of Belgian horses in the Northwest has caused King Albert of Belgium to donate a silver loving cup for award in exhibition of classes of these horses at the State Fair.

Writer Absolves Nero; Emperor Fought Flames

Arthur Weigall, the historian, has knocked into a cocked hat the notion that "Nero fiddled while Rome burned." Poor Nero! He not only did not know how to fiddle but was head of the fire brigade.

According to Mr. Weigall in his fine and scholarly volume on Nero, this gentleman when the fire broke out was at his country estate. And that explodes the popular notion that he set the place on fire for the fun of watching it burn.

He rushed back to town and spent six days and nights working like a Trojan—or like a Roman, it being another wrong notion that the Trojans worked harder than anybody else—and organizing fire brigades all over Rome trying to put the fire out.

When, however, it got out near his own magnificent home with its great collection of art treasures and he saw it was doomed, he stood on the river bank in front of the house and sang a funeral dirge, for Mr. Weigall states that Nero was one of the greatest singers that ever lived—a tall, robust, red-haired, freckled-faced opera singer, more interested in his music than in fires or in burning Christians.

Thus do our notions crumble one by one before the onslaught of truth! —Albert E. Wiggam in International Cosmopolitan.

Body of Cortes Rests in Mexico City Church

The Mexican government announced not long ago that it is in possession of documents proving definitely that the remains of Hernando Cortes, Spanish conqueror of Mexico, are in the central altar of the church of Jesus Nazareno in Mexico City, says Pathfinder Magazine. For more than a century there has been a mystery as to the final disposition of the remains of Cortes. He died near Seville, Spain, on December 2, 1547, and his ashes were sent to Mexico about 15 years later and placed in the hospital founded by him in the Mexican capital. When the agitation against everything Spanish was at its height in 1823 the ashes of the conqueror were removed to the church near the hospital for fear that they might be desecrated. The church, which will be made a Cortes shrine, is near the hospital which still benefits by the will of Cortes. The conqueror of Mexico, like many other Spanish heroes of the time, was neglected after he returned to Spain. There is a story to the effect that he once forced his way through a throng around the carriage of Emperor Charles and mounted the step. Charles demanded who he was. "I am a man," Cortes replied, "who has given you more provinces than your ancestors left you cities."

Sausages as Tithes

In the town of Döben, Germany, it seems, the church is entitled to receive 130 pounds of a certain kind of sausage, known as Mettwurst every year from the local tithe-payers. Recently the latter refused to supply the ration of sausage. The church invoked the aid of the law, and the tithe-payers had to deliver the customary Mettwurst. But the church was still unsatisfied—the sausage, it was alleged, was not up to standard—it contained too much beef. Mettwurst has always been a source of trouble in Mecklenburg-Schwerin. In many parishes the local clergyman was entitled to so many cills of the sausage from his parishioners. He always got the right length, but if he were unpopular, the Mettwurst was of the smallest possible thickness, there being nothing in the bond regarding its diameter.

Castle of Sleeping Beauty

The ancestral castle of the counts of Eltz is one of the finest in Germany, resting high on a precipitous rock, with cloud-piercing tower and rimmed with dark green woods. This is the castle made famous by Sleeping Beauty, if legend is to be believed. It dates back to the Twelfth century and its gray walls have seen many a battle waged. It might almost be said to be three castles in one, grouped about an inner court, and each of the three has its own entry. It is full of the paraphernalia of dream-haunted rooms, heavy iron-bound chests, carved doors, old pewter, massive refectory tables which surely have often trembled beneath their loads of venison, wine and the thunderous merriment of feasters.

Hollywood Now Obscured

The somber walls of Hollywood palace, Edinburgh, have lost remembrance of the grandeur of its former days, yet it holds some of the most glamorous and the saddest memories of Mary Queen of Scots. Here on the 9th of March, 1566, Lord Darnley murdered David Rizzio, an Italian, whom he accused of improper relations with Mary, his wife. Exactly 12 months afterward he himself was murdered by the earl of Bothwell, who married Mary after less than three months.

"Uttering and Publishing"

This legal phrase is most generally used in connection with the circulation of counterfeit money, forged notes, etc. Bouvier's Law Dictionary states that "to utter" in criminal law is to offer or to publish; also that "to publish" means primarily to make known. Webster's dictionary quotes E. Wharton that "to utter and publish a document is to offer directly or indirectly, by words or actions, such document as good."

Queen of Los Angeles Fete

Officially selected at Queen of the Fiesta de Los Angeles, Mrs. Elizabeth Gross (above) will rule the colorful celebration commemorating the 150th birthday of the city of Los Angeles. Mrs. Gross certainly looks every inch a queen with her crown and all the trimmings. Even in these unpopular days for kings, one couldn't mind acting the part with Queen Elizabeth.

C-r-a-s-h! An Involuntary Bath!

DIRT TRACK RACE CAR DRIVERS AT THE STATE FAIR

COMING FROM EVERY PART OF 'COUNTRY TO COMPETE IN RACES

HEADED BY LOUIS SCHNEIDER, WINNER OF 500-MILE INDIANAPOLIS CLASSIC

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 3.—(UP)—Dirt track race car drivers from every part of the country will compete in a series of races at the Minnesota State Fair Saturday for the dirt track championship of America.

Headed by Louis Schneider, winner of the 500-mile Indianapolis classic, leading speedway and dirt track pilots have pointed their machines for the races Saturday.

With all of the leading drivers entered, the International Motor Contest Association officials have announced that Saturday's events will determine the 1931 dirt track championship. The present mile mark of 40:20 made by Sig Haugdahl in the time trials a year ago is expected to be bettered as are the two, three and four-mile competition figures established by Johnny Sawyer in 1930. These records have been recognized by the I. M. C. A.

Schneider will be pitted against the field which includes such drivers as Sawyer, Gus Schrader, who established two new records at Milwaukee this week, Frank Brisco and Carl Marchesse.

Other drivers who have entered the events are Jack Johnson, Indianapolis, who has raced against Schneider many times; Johnny Evers, St. Louis; Wesley Argo, Atlanta; Roy Lake, Los Angeles; Jack Pettit, Los Angeles; Swan Peterson, Chicago; L. J. and Bud Galloway, Miami; Art Cody, Chicago; Barney McKenna, Roby, Ind.; Joe Russo, Indianapolis; and George Cutt, Grand Forks, N. D.

Since then the county has made it a point to be represented by an adequate and satisfying exhibit.

To one not versed in the matter of collecting the various exhibits, there is no idea as to the patience and labor required to gather adequate samples.

Crow Wing county has made admirable progress in its cultivation of alfalfa. The Lions club of Brainerd made it one of its tenets to foster alfalfa growth and a wonderful showing was attained by interesting the young people on the farm. Due to the efforts of these farmer boys and girls, alfalfa thrived in sections never before having attempted its cultivation.

Dairying and general farming have thrived well in the county. The 4-H boys and girls work, carefully fostered, has placed Crow Wing county in the front ranks of this movement and many of their exhibits will be on display at the State Fair booth.

The State Fair is really a cross section of the whole state. One gains a quick inventory of each county, what its industries, farm wealth and other features are.

Each year the Crow Wing county exhibit has gained higher honors, due to the activity and experience gained by County Agent E. G. Roth and his assistants in collection and arrangement of the exhibits.

State Government Costs

STATE government costs as revealed by a late census report show gains, the census bureau having announced its 1930 statistics for Minnesota and North Dakota.

The payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of the Minnesota state government amounted to $37,167,418, or $14.52 per capita, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, according to the census report.

This includes $10,034,147 apportionments for education to the minor civil divisions of the state. In 1929 the per capita cost for operation and maintenance of general departments was $14.44, and in 1917, $8.15. The interest on debt in 1930 amounted to $3,647,869, and outlays for permanent improvements, $14,692,232. The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of the departments, interest and outlays, were $55,507,519.

Of the government costs reported, $16,325,126 was for highways, $4,543,772 for maintenance and $11,781,354 for construction.

The total revenue receipts were $64,412,587, or $25.16 per capita.

Under the revenues division of the summary, it is pointed out that the sales tax on gasoline amounted to $6,750,331 in 1930 and $3,678,105 in 1929, an increase of 83.5 per cent.

Those interested in the study of economics will ponder on the figures covering sales tax on gasoline. The large increase of 83.5 per cent indicates that there was no cessation in the use of cars or trucks and that in spite of any business depression there is a growing use of these vehicles.

It calls to mind the fact that a car as used nowadays is an absolute necessity to many families and not considered in the light of a luxury. When the high school was built in Brainerd, a large number of cars were parked daily at the scene of construction. Workers rode to and from employment in their cars.

Labor Day Holiday Proclaimed

MONDAY, September 7, was designated as a Labor Day holiday by Governor Floyd B. Olson in his proclamation this week.

The governor urges that not only labor but that the public generally put aside its activities for that day and ponder the rights of the workers and those who are dependent on them.

The proclamation states that "the progress and prosperity of the state and nation is measured by the success and welfare of its wage earners. It is most appropriate that one day each year be set aside for labor.

"During this period of depression and unemployment it is imperative that labor present a united front and lead the way for the enactment of those laws which will insure to all the people of this nation not only a decent living but a fair share of the comforts and luxuries of life.

"The doctrine of equality of opportunity in American government has served largely as an excuse for exploitation. There is no equality of opportunity when millions of people desiring work are unable to obtain it."

Ice House Fire Gets Publicity

THE ice house fire at Big Lake, on Trunk Highway No. 3 south of Brainerd, gained publicity in the Evening Graphic of New York, issue of August 29. The picture shows waterlogged, fire eaten walls with rows and rows of melting ice cakes.

The script read: "Natives of Big Lake, Minn., in the North Woods country where they still pack ice in sawdust for the coming summer, got chance to see that paradoxical sight when this ice house burned. The pyramided cakes didn't burn far, however. There's still enough to cool a lot of drinks."

The fire was a spectacular one and, the ice house being so near the cement pavement, was witnessed by many tourists passing through Big Lake.

It did not take the wife of Mahatma Gandhi long to pack his suit case for his trip to London. The Mahatma wears only his loin cloth.

THE growing use of Belgian horses in the Northwest has caused King Albert of Belgium to donate a silver loving cup for award in exhibition of classes of these horses at the State Fair.

Writer Absolves Nero; Emperor Fought Flames

Arthur Weigall, the historian, has knocked into a cocked hat the notion that "Nero fiddled while Rome burned." Poor Nero! He not only did not know how to fiddle but was head of the fire brigade.

According to Mr. Weigall in his fine and scholarly volume on Nero, this gentleman when the fire broke out was at his country estate. And that exploded the popular notion that he set the place on fire for the fun of watching it burn.

He rushed back to town and spent six days and nights working like a Trojan—or like a Roman, it being another wrong notion that the Trojans worked harder than anybody else—and organizing fire brigades all over Rome trying to put the fire out.

When, however, it got out near his own magnificent home with its great collection of art treasures and he saw it was doomed, he stood on the river bank in front of the house and sang a funeral dirge, for Mr. Weigall states that Nero was one of the greatest singers that ever lived—a tall, robust, red-haired, freckled-faced opera singer, more interested in his music than in fires or in burning Christians.

Thus do our notions crumble one by one before the onslaught of truth! —Albert E. Wiggam in International-Cosmopolitan.

Body of Cortes Rests in Mexico City Church

The Mexican government announced not long ago that it is in possession of documents proving definitely that the remains of Hernando Cortes, Spanish conqueror of Mexico, are in the central altar of the church of Jesus Nazareno in Mexico City, says Pathfinder Magazine. For more than a century there has been a mystery as to the final disposition of the remains of Cortes. He died near Seville, Spain, on December 2, 1547, and his ashes were sent to Mexico about 15 years later and placed in the hospital founded by him in the Mexican capital. When the agitation against everything Spanish was at its height in 1823 the ashes of the conqueror were removed to the church near the hospital for fear that they might be desecrated. The church, which will be made a Cortes shrine, is near the hospital which still benefits by the will of Cortes. The conqueror of Mexico, like many other Spanish heroes of the time, was neglected after he returned to Spain. There is a story to the effect that he once forced his way through a throng around the carriage of Emperor Charles and mounted the step. Charles demanded who he was. "I am a man," Cortes replied, "who has given you more provinces than your ancestors left you cities."

Sausages as Tithes

In the town of Dömen, Germany, it seems, the church is entitled to receive 130 pounds of a certain kind of sausage, known as Mettwurst every year from the local tithe-payers. Recently the latter refused to supply the ration of sausage. The church invoked the aid of the law, and the tithe-payers had to deliver the customary Mettwurst. But the church was still unsatisfied—the sausage, it was alleged, was not up to standard—it contained too much beef. Mettwurst has always been a source of trouble in Mecklenburg-Schwerin. In many parishes the local clergyman was entitled to so many ells of the sausage from his parishioners. He always got the right length, but if he were unpopular, the Mettwurst was of the smallest possible thickness, there being nothing in the bond regarding its diameter.

Castle of Sleeping Beauty

The ancestral castle of the counts of Eltz is one of the finest in Germany, resting high on a precipitous rock, with cloud-piercing tower and rimmed with dark green woods. This is the castle made famous by Sleeping Beauty. If legend is to be believed, it dates back to the Twelfth century and its gray walls have seen many a battle waged. It might almost be said to be three castles in one, grouped about an inner court, and each of the three has its own entry. It is full of the paraphernalia of dream-haunted rooms, heavy iron-bound chests, carved doors, old pewter, massive refectory tables which surely have often trembled beneath their loads of venison, wine and the thunderous merriment of feasters.

Hollywood Now Obscured

The somber walls of Hollywood palace, Edinburgh, have lost remembrance of the grandeur of its former days, yet it holds some of the most glamorous and the saddest memories of Mary Queen of Scots. Here on the 9th of March, 1566, Lord Darnley murdered David Rizzio, an Italian, whom he accused of improper relations with Mary, his wife. Exactly 12 months afterward he himself was murdered by the earl of Bothwell, who married Mary after less than three months.

"Uttering and Publishing"

This legal phase is most generally used in connection with the circulation of counterfeit money, forged notes, etc. Bouvier's Law Dictionary states that "to utter" in criminal law is to offer or to publish; also that "to publish" means primarily to make known. Webster's dictionary quotes F. Wharton that "to utter and publish a document is to offer directly or indirectly, by words or actions, such document as good."

Queen of Los Angeles Fete

Officially selected as Queen of the Fiesta de Los Angeles, Mrs. Elizabeth Groves (above) will rule the colorful celebration commemorating the 150th birthday of the city of Los Angeles. Mrs. Groves certainly looks every inch a queen with her crown and all the trimmings. Even in these unpopular days for kings, one wouldn't mind acting the part with Queen Elizabeth.

C-r-a-s-h! An Involuntary Bath!

Eskimo Dural Customs
Methods of burial among Eskimos vary with the locality, but, in general, it may be said that where there is any stone or rock to be had the body is placed in as secluded a spot as possible and then covered with rocks to prevent depredation by wild animals and for protection from the elements. In some districts along the coast the body is placed in a wooden box and then erected on piles for the same reasons.

Feather-Weight Metal
A wonderful new metal of English origin is a secret alloy of aluminum, considerably lighter than pure aluminum, yet nearly as strong as steel. It does not suffer to anything like the same extent as other impurities from the effects of fatigue. Manufacturers are able to use it for parts that had previously to be made of nothing but steel, and its smaller weight reduces wear.

DIRT TRACK RACE CAR DRIVERS AT THE STATE FAIR

COMING FROM EVERY PART OF 'COUNTRY TO COMPETE IN RACES

HEADED BY LOUIS SCHNEIDER, WINNER OF 500-MILE INDIANAPOLIS CLASSIC

Hamline, Minn., Sept. 3.—(U.P.)—Dirt track race car drivers from every part of the country will compete in a series of races at the Minnesota State Fair Saturday for the dirt track championship of America.

Headed by Louis Schneider, winner of the 500-mile Indianapolis classic, leading speedway and dirt track pilots have pointed their machines for the races Saturday.

With all of the leading drivers entered, the International Motor Contest Association officials have announced that Saturday's events will determine the 1931 dirt track championship.

The present mile mark of 40:20 made by Sig Haugdahl in the time trials a year ago is expected to be bettered as are the two, three and four-mile competition figures established by Johnny Sawyer in 1930. These records have been recognized by the I. M. C. A.

Schneider will be pitted against the field which includes such drivers as Sawyer, Gus Schrader, who established two new records at Milwaukee this week, Frank Brisco and Carl Marchesse.

Other drivers who have entered the events are Jack Johnson, Indianapolis, who has raced against Schneider many times; Johnny Evers, St. Louis; Wesley Argo, Atlanta; Roy Lake, Los Angeles; Jack Pettit, Los Angeles; Swan Peterson, Chicago; L. J. and Bud Galloway, Miami; Art Cody, Chicago; Barney McKenna, Roby, Ind.; Joe Russo, Indianapolis; and George Cuttu, Grand Forks, N. D.

CLAIM POWERS AND AND HIS WIFE WERE IN CHICAGO IN JUNE

MET MRS. ASTA BUICK EICHER,
ONE OF POWERS' 5 KNOWN
MURDER VICTIMS

CLAIM IS MADE BY MRS. JEAN
CAMPBELL, CONSULTING
PSYCHO-ANALYST

Chicago, Sept. 3.—(AP)—A claim that Mrs. Luella Powers, red-haired wife of the Clarksburg, W. Va., Bluebeard, came to Chicago with her husband last June and met Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher, one of Powers' five known murder victims, was under investigation today.

Chief of Police Johnson of Park

Ridge, where Mrs. Eicher lived, said the claim was made by Mrs. Jean Campbell, a consulting psycho-analyst.

Johnson said Mrs. Campbell reported that Mrs. Eicher, Powers and another woman sought advice from her last June on the sale of some property and bonds. Mrs. Campbell said she was convinced, after seeing newspaper photographs, that the other woman was Mrs. Powers.

The women told her, Mrs. Campbell said, that their names were Mrs. Buick and Mrs. Drexel. Powers, she said, arranged the meeting, but said his name was Pierson, the name he used in carrying on a mail order courtship which ended in death for Mrs. Eicher and her three children.

NEW EXHIBITS FOR 1931 STATE FAIR

Displays to Depict Progress in Agriculture, Industry and Home-making.

The world moves.

Keeping pace with progress in agricultural methods, in industry and in the improvement of living standards on the farm and in town has been the thought in planning the educational program of the 1931 Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Livestock Show, September 5 to 12, according to D. D. McEachin, President.

To reward those who have contributed to such progress and to encourage further endeavor, premiums aggregating $128,751 are offered by the State Fair this year.

Recognizing the importance of Boys' and Girls' Club work in building Minnesota's future, premiums totaling $24,596 have been posted in that department. Twelve hundred youthful farmers and home-makers, leaders among more than 45,000 4-H Club members in Minnesota, will compete in junior livestock and home economics contests and demonstrations at the fair this year.

Cattle, horses, swine, sheep, goats and poultry valued at millions will be exhibited, and premiums in these divisions will amount to almost $55,000. Indications point to a record showing.

The exhibit of Minnesota's finest grains, grasses and vegetables in the Agricultural Building will demonstrate what progress is being made in the improvement of farm and garden crops in the various counties of the state. More than usual interest will be centered in the Horticultural display, for the season has been especially favorable for the growing of many varieties of fruits and berries, and the perfume of thousands of blossoms of wild and cultivated flowers will pervade the building.

What's new in machinery and labor-saving devices? That question will be answered to the hour at the 60-acre "clinic" on Machinery Hill—always an attraction to the State Fair visitor whether he is a skilled mechanic or is just curious to learn how a wheelbarrow operates. In addition to old, established lines of farm, road-building, industrial equipment and labor-saving devices for the home, the newest improvements will be featured, and their methods of operation will be demonstrated.

Minnesota's finest dairy products—and that means the best anywhere—will be displayed on the mezzanine floor of the Livestock Pavilion. An added feature in that quarter this year will be an exhibit of meat cuts—beef, pork and mutton—arranged by the packing industry for the Northwest Livestock Show Committee. There one may learn how to buy and prepare meat most economically. Space will be occupied by a special display by the United States Department of Agriculture.

A visit to the State Exhibits Building on Machinery Hill will be the equivalent to a short course in Minnesota government. Many varieties of game and fish will be shown in the building set aside for that purpose.

Up to Old Tricks

Sgt. Samuel Woodfill, called the greatest hero of the World War by General Pershing, feels the familiar grip of a rifle once more, but this time in peaceful sport. He's shown about to level a service rifle at the National Rifle and Pistol matches held at Camp Perry, Ohio.

ing on Machinery Hill will be the equivalent to a short course in Minnesota government. Many varieties of game and fish will be shown in the building set aside for that purpose.

Every woman attending the State Fair will find many new objects of interest in the building devoted to Woman's Activities, and an outstanding collection of pictures by Minnesota and foreign artists will be shown in the galleries adjoining.

Manufacturers of automobiles and varied industries will present their newest products at the fair. There will be an Aircraft Show, with prize competition for models displayed, and numerous other educational features. The admission fee will be 50 cents.

CHILEAN REGIME NOW HEADED BY MUTINOUS SAILORS

FORMER PRESIDENT ALESSANDRI WILL NOT BE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

HIDALGO, COMMUNIST CANDIDATE, IS ONLY REPRESENTATIVE OF LEFT FACTION

Santiago, Chile, Sept. 3.—(AP)—A new Chilean government, the fourth within a month, took office today with mutinous sailors in control of the battle fleet.

Simultaneous with the change in government, former President Arturo Alessandri announced he would not be a presidential candidate in the October elections, thus leaving Senator Manuel Hidalgo, communist candidate, the only representative of the left faction. The mutineers received numerous messages of solidarity from communist organizations, but denied that their revolt was connected with the communist movement.

The Chilean Workers Federation

urged a general strike in sympathy with the mutineers, who continued in control of the battle fleet at Coquimbo. Rear Admiral Eduardo Von Schroeder was received by the sailors' committee aboard the Almirante La Torre and outlined the government's position.

The senate and the chamber approved measures authorizing the government to establish a state of siege where it was deemed necessary. The vote in the senate was 11 to 2 and in the chamber 44 to 13.

The government, headed by Manuel Trucco, which resigned last night, had threatened to send army airplanes and navy seaplanes against the mutineers, unless they surrendered today. The sailors replied with the threat to turn the battle fleet's guns upon Chilean ports.

It was reported that the mutineers, in addition to demanding that a proposed 30 per cent reduction of their salaries, which caused the mutiny, be rescinded, asked reforms including sub-division of cultivated lands and reduction of compulsory naval service to one year. They also asked extradition and trial of former President Gen. Carlos Ibanez and the members of his government who fled from Chile after he was overthrown.

FEW CHANGES IN TEACHING STAFF

All But Four Teachers to Return This Year to Duties in City Schools

THREE NEW MEN AT HIGH
Homes Desired for Girls Wishing to Work for Board and Room Through Year

Brainerd city schools will open for the new school year Tuesday morning, September 8, at the customary time for opening, for grades and high school.

The number of new teachers will be fewer this year indicating the tendency in recent years for teachers, as a group, not to change from year to year, as was the case a few years ago. Only one new teacher in the grades has been employed in the place of one who resigned. In the high school, three new teachers have been employed, two in the department of mathematics and one in the commercial department. The new teachers in the high school are men, two of whom are married and one a single man. Harry Burton, of Carleton college, takes the place of Luther Ford in the mathematics department. Glenn Blackford, of Drake university, Des Moines, Ia., takes the place of Winnifred Spencer Sullivan in the mathematics department and E. J. Ellertson of the University of Minnesota takes the place of Helen Torgerson in the commercial department.

From inquiries made at the office of Superintendent W. C. Cobb, it would indicate that a large number of pupils from the rural schools of Crow Wing county are hoping to attend the high school at Brainerd and many of these are girls desiring an opportunity to work for their board and room. Homes that may desire to have a school girl assist in housework while attending high school should leave their names at the office of the superintendent. The state pays the tuition in the high school for such students as meet the entrance requirements for high school as laid down by the state department of education, provided there is no high school or high school department in the school district in which the students parents reside. The state does not, however, pay the tuition for any students who are lacking in their high school requirements as laid down by the state, which requirement is based on state certificates for all non-accredited rural schools.

Free text books are furnished to all pupils in the grades but in the high school a rental charge of $1.00 for each semester is required in advance before the books are given out. All high school pupils should come prepared to get their book rental receipts in order to receive their text books.

Plimsoll Deserving of Title "Seamen's Friend"

By agreement among several of the more important maritime nations of the world, the Plimsoll line, marking the safe loading point for vessels, has come almost into universal use. It has been the means of saving the lives of thousands of seamen. Before Samuel Plimsoll made his stand for humanity, seamen were at the mercy of scoundrelly owners who thought only in terms of insurance. No thought of the men who would go down with their ships stayed their hands.

Then came Samuel Plimsoll, "The Seamen's Friend." He had been prosperous; he had known disaster. From a position of affluence he had come to common lodging houses. In them he met seamen and heard their stories. He was roused to a great anger, and there and then took an oath that he would never rest until he had revealed the villainy of the "ship-luckers."

He knew that before he could achieve anything he had to get into parliament. That meant money. Out of the pit of poverty he climbed. He was elected to parliament and devoted his energies to the measure he had suggested for saving the lives of the seamen. In the face of violent opposition he prevailed and the measure became a law requiring a mark on the hull indicating the safety loading line.

Word "Camera" Derived From Renaissance Toy

The primitive Aryan root "kam" meant "to bend," and the Greek "camera," derived from it, was used to denote anything with an arched cover or roof. Hence came the Latin "camera," meaning "a room," and ultimately, through French, the English "chamber." A common toy of the rich in Renaissance times was a dark room letting in light only through a small lens, which threw an inverted image of the scene outside on the wall opposite it. This was called a "camera obscura" or "dark room." The problem for the inventors of photography was to make permanent the image in the "camera obscura"; hence the instrument with which they ultimately accomplished it was called a "camera." —Exchange.

GENE DAVIDSON AGAIN IN COURT

Strikes Father With Cob of Corn, Police Say; Fined $30 or 30 Days for Drunkenness

Gene Davidson, who got himself into trouble before when he molested his aged father, John Davidson, at their Northeast Brainerd home, faced Judge J. H. Warner in municipal court again this morning, this time on a drunkenness charge on complaint of his father. Davidson pleaded guilty and was fined $30 or 30 days.

"Guess I'll have to take jail," Davidson replied.

Police reported that the prisoner was arrested after he had struck his father with a cob of corn in their home.

County officials will search the records to determine if Davidson violated a parole on a former charge of assaulting his father.

Local Organization Will Plan Early Start of Troop Work This Fall

S. R. Adair, chairman of the local organization in scouting, urged today that all persons interested in the furtherance of scouting this fall and winter report at the annual meeting of the organization tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

"We desire to start the scout movement off earlier this year than before. If we can get the wholehearted cooperation of those interested we can begin this month," Mr. Adair said.

Election of officers of the organization will take place at the meeting.

There are close to 150 boy scouts in the city of Brainerd.

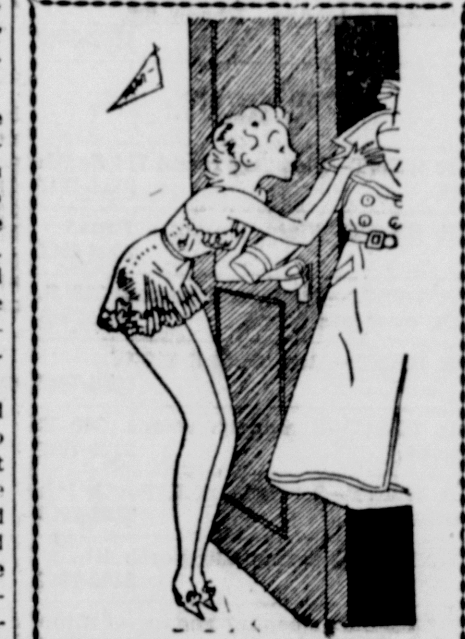

Plans for a Boy Scouts drive to stress safety on streets and highways will also be discussed tomorrow evening.

Rome Had Plumbers

The word "plumber" comes from the Latin word "plumbarius," which means a worker in lead. Rome had its plumbers for its great public baths as well as for the installation of running water systems in private houses. Practically every house that has been excavated at the site of Herculaneum and Pompeii had running water, investigators report.

Oldest Known Colors

The oldest existing colors created by man were found in a cavern used by the Cro-Magnon race in Europe around 10,000 B. C. They were red and yellow produced by daubing a fine clay containing iron (ocher) on the walls in the form of a decoration.

FEW CHANGES IN TEACHING STAFF

All But Four Teachers to Return This Year to Duties in City Schools

THREE NEW MEN AT HIGH

Homes Desired for Girls Wishing to Work for Board and Room Through Year

Brainerd city schools will open for the new school year Tuesday morning, September 8, at the customary time for opening, for grades and high school.

The number of new teachers will be fewer this year indicating the tendency in recent years for teachers, as a group, not to change from year to year, as was the case a few years ago. Only one new teacher in the grades has been employed in the place of one who resigned. In the high school, three new teachers have been employed, two in the department of mathematics and one in the commercial department. The new teachers in the high school are men, two of whom are married and one a single man. Harry Burton, of Carleton college, takes the place of Luther Ford in the mathematics department. Glenn Blackford, of Drake university, Des Moines, Ia., takes the place of Winnifred Spencer Sullivan in the mathematics department and B. J. Ellertson of the University of Minnesota takes the place of Helen Torgerson in the commercial department.

From inquiries made at the office of Superintendent W. C. Cobb, it would indicate that a large number of pupils from the rural schools of Crow Wing county are hoping to attend the high school at Brainerd and many of these are girls desiring an opportunity to work for their board and room. Homes that may desire to have a school girl assist in housework while attending high school should leave their names at the office of the superintendent. The state pays the tuition in the high school for such students as meet the entrance requirements for high school as laid down by the state department of education, provided there is no high school or high school department in the school district in which the students parents reside. The state does not, however, pay the tuition for any students who are lacking in their high school requirements as laid down by the state, which requirement is based on state certificates for all non-accredited rural schools.

Free text books are furnished to all pupils in the grades but in the high school a rental charge of $1.00 for each semester is required in advance before the books are given out. All high school pupils should come prepared to get their book rental receipts in order to receive their text books.

Plimsoil Deserving of Title "Seamen's Friend"

By agreement among several of the more important maritime nations of the world, the Plimsoil line, marking the safe loading point for vessels, has come almost into universal use. It has been the means of saving the lives of thousands of seamen. Before Samuel Plimsoil made his stand for humanity, seamen were at the mercy of scoundrelly owners who thought only in terms of insurance. No thought of the men who would go down with their ships stayed their hands.

Then came Samuel Plimsoil, "The Seamen's Friend." He had been prosperous; he had known disaster. From a position of affluence he had come to common lodging houses. In them he met seamen and heard their stories. He was roused to a great anger, and there and then took an oath that he would never rest until he had revealed the villainy of the "ship-bucklers."

He knew that before he could achieve anything he had to get into parliament. That meant money. Out of the pit of poverty he climbed. He was elected to parliament and devoted his energies to the measure he had suggested for saving the lives of the seamen. In the face of violent opposition he prevailed and the measure became a law requiring a mark on the hull indicating the safe loading line.

Word "Camera" Derived

From Renaissance Toy
The primitive Aryan root "kam" meant "to bend," and the Greek "camera," derived from it, was used to denote anything with an arched cover or roof. Hence came the Latin "camera," meaning "a room," and ultimately, through French, the English "chamber." A common toy of the rich in Renaissance times was a dark room letting in light only through a small lens, which threw an inverted image of the scene outside on the wall opposite it. This was called a "camera obscura" or "dark room." The problem for the inventors of photography was to make permanent the image in the "camera obscura"; hence the instrument with which they ultimately accomplished it was called a "camera."—Exchange.

GENE DAVIDSON AGAIN IN COURT

Strikes Father With Cob of Corn, Police Say; Fined $30 or 30 Days for Drunkenness

Gene Davidson, who got himself into trouble before when he molested his aged father, John Davidson, at their Northeast Brainerd home, faced Judge J. H. Warner in municipal court again this morning, this time on a drunkenness charge on complaint of his father. Davidson plead guilty and was fined $30 or 30 days.

"Guess I'll have to take jail," Davidson replied.

Police reported that the prisoner was arrested after he had struck his father with a cob of corn in their home.

County officials will search the records to determine if Davidson violated a parole on a former charge of assaulting his father.

PIN-TUCK TO BE IN FAVOR FOR AUTUMN

Lends Smartness and Chic to Most Costumes.

There's a raft of smartness and chic tucked within the limited confines of a pin-tuck. More than ever, this season, designers are relying solely on pin-tucking to carry the whole burden of trimming the best and most expensive models.

It seems amazing that so simple an ornamentation as pin-tucked motifs can lend such charm, elaboration and richness to a frock. Thus we find this handwork on both day and evening frocks wherever smart women congregate.

It looks as though autumn clothes are going to be more pin-tucked than ever. No more do we allow the change of the season to be responsible for snatching from us some sartorial device that has won our fancy and approval.

What was worn during one season used to be considered demode the next. But no more, if we like pin-tucks on our summer frocks, why then, we are going to have them on our autumn frocks, that's all there is to that.

Casting a Modish Shadow

An afternoon costume in black that shades upward to gray and white. The outfit is fashioned in dull silk crepe.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

Paris adores cottons, no question of that. In the magic hands of her couturiers, the loveliest of cotton weaves have taken on new beauty. The impression left as one views one triumph in cotton after another in the ateliers of noted French designers is that this summer's popularity of cotton has made an indelible mark on fashions of the future.

The fabric used includes velvet for evening wraps and the same for stunning street clothes. Organdie, both printed and in solid colors, broadcloth, voile, batiste and dainty swisses are all treated with the art which has made Paris famous for beautiful clothes.

The effect of the Colonial exposition will be far-reaching in the fashion world, but nowhere will its influence be more felt than in cotton modes. This influence was also reflected in the frocks, hats and wraps worn by the spectators as well as the emphasis placed on smart cottons in the couturier displays.

Outstanding styles included organdie dance frocks with little sleeves that covered the shoulders, a black organdie evening gown with white lace inserts in bodice and skirt, also a very lovely dress of white or organdie, its square eyelets embroidered in silver.

Stripes Rival Plaid in Esteem of Designers

Whether one's taste calls for stripes or plaids makes no difference this season. Both systems are working well in fashion, for it is a patterned year. Stripes run around or up and down or both ways on the same garment. And plaids—well, they are biased or straight with no deep regard for any one set way. If one don't want to be patterned all over try a striped plaid coat with a plain dress.

Hand-Made Frocks

This summer will witness a marked vogue of French handmade frocks, very simply made with tiny tucks or hemstitching and at their prettiest in white or pastel crepe.

PIN-TUCK TO BE IN FAVOR FOR AUTUMN

Lends Smartness and Chic to Most Costumes.

There's a raft of smartness and chic tucked within the limited confines of a pin-tuck. More than ever, this season, designers are relying solely on pin-tucking to carry the whole burden of trimming the best and most expensive models.

It seems amazing that so simple an ornamentation as pin-tucked motifs can lend such charm, elaboration and richness to a frock. Thus we find this handwork on both day and evening frocks wherever smart women congregate.

It looks as though autumn clothes are going to be more pin-tucked than ever. No more do we allow the change of the season to be responsible for snatching from us some sartorial device that has won our fancy and approval.

What was worn during one season used to be considered demode the next. But no more, if we like pin-tucks on our summer frocks, why then, we are going to have them on our autumn frocks, that's all there is to that.

Casting a Modish Shadow

An afternoon costume in black that shades upward to gray and white. The outfit is fashioned in dull silk crepe.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

Paris adores cottons, no question of that. In the magic hands of her couturiers, the lowliest of cotton weaves have taken on new beauty. The impression left as one views one triumph in cotton after another in the attellers of noted French designers is that this summer's popularity of cotton has made an indelible mark on fashions of the future.

The fabric used includes velvet for evening wraps and the same for stunning street clothes. Organdie, both printed and in solid colors, broadcloth, voile, batiste and dainty swisses are all treated with the art which has made Paris famous for beautiful clothes.

The effect of the Colonial exposition will be far-reaching in the fashion world, but nowhere will its influence be more felt than in cotton models. This influence was also reflected in the frocks, hats and wraps worn by the spectators as well as the emphasis placed on smart cottons in the couturier displays.

Outstanding styles included organdie dance frocks with little sleeves that covered the shoulders, a black organdie evening gown with white lace inserts in bodice and skirt, also a very lovely dress of white organdie, its square eyelets embroidered in silver.

Stripes Rival Plaid in Esteem of Designers

Whether one's taste calls for stripes or plaids makes no difference this season. Both systems are working well in fashion, for it is a patterned year. Stripes run around or up and down or both ways on the same garment. And plaids—well, they are biased or straight with no deep regard for any one set way. If one doesn't want to be patterned all over try a striped plaid coat with a plain dress.

Hand-Made Frocks

This summer will witness a marked vogue of French handmade frocks, very simply made with tiny tucks or hemstitching and at their prettiest in white or pastel crepe.

Grace R. Fitch Alleges That Charles Novak Stole Hay Rake, Cultivator

A hay rake and a cultivator are rather bulky articles to carry away but such theft is what Grace R. Fitch accuses Charles Novak of in a complaint charging second degree larceny.

The complaint was presented in municipal court before Judge J. H. Warner this morning and the case was continued until this afternoon.

The warrant specifies that the theft occurred March 7, 1931, in Dean Lake township.

It is understood that Novak will offer a defense that he purchased the articles.

JUNIOR HIGH PLANS
GIVEN BY W. C. COBB

Superintendent of City Schools Addresses Rotary Club, Many Visitors Are Present

NEW AIMS IN EDUCATION

High School Should Prepare for Vocation in Life, Civic Duties, and Other Responsibilities

Supt. W. C. Cobb addressed the Rotary club and of particular interest was his reference to the Junior High School now building. The idea of a Junior High School is new in Brainerd, but not in other larger cities.

"We are putting up a building which when completed will be as much a matter of satisfaction, joy and pride as our regular high school," said Mr. Cobb.

Good progress is being made in construction work at the Junior High. It will accommodate approximately 500 pupils. It will have 15 or 16 rooms, auditorium, physical education rooms for boys and girls. In face, style and material the Junior High will be as good as the present high school. It will provide industrial work for boys and girls, library, laboratory for first year in high school. It is contemplated to have 7th, 8th and 9th grades from that part of the city attending school and possibly a grade or two below from the second and third wards.

The contractors aim to complete their work the latter part of February and the board has allowed an additional month.

It is hoped that with the Junior High School in operation, more attention will be given to students during the earlier years from age 12 on so as to help boys and girls and their parents to prepare them for work to which they are adapted.

"There are too many students attending four years of high school," said Mr. Cobb. "At the universities at least 50 per cent of the students have no business to be there. They would be better off somewhere else."

He referred to an article in the April Atlantic Monthly which considered the status of the non-intellectual child. The author called attention to the ideas of old which held the province of secondary education or high schools to be preparation for college and preparation for the duties of life.

As a result of the conditions of the times universities and colleges are overcrowded. In the past high schools functioned largely in plan and studies to fit ten per cent of the pupils to attend college. Ninety per cent or the remainder at school never intended going to college or university.

The Junior High School should counteract such a tendency.

Opinions change as to value of college education. In the eighties it was not considered an asset in business life to have a college degree. Ever since the world war a change was noted and big business looked with favor on college men. The registrations at the universities mounted until now many institutions are overcrowded and have started a weeding out process.

The author laid down a definition of what education should do. There are four fundamentals which every high school should provide: To prepare for a vocation in life. To prepare for civic duties and the responsibilities of an American citizen. To prepare for family responsibility, as future fathers and mothers. To prepare pupils in school for their recreational activities to take up slack time after business hours.

Schools have given much attention to playgrounds and physical education. Gymnasiums cost a lot of money, but are worth it. The gymnasium at Brainerd High School is in constant use during the school year, from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

President Carl Zapffe called attention to the return of County Attorney A. J. Sullivan. He is on the way to complete recovery from his automobile accident.

Mr. Zapffe explained provisions of the constitution that permit a man after five years membership who goes on the retired list to continue as a past service member.

Relatives of the Heidtke family, Mr. and Mrs. John Prochnow and daughter Esther, and their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hart all of Jackson, Wis., the pastor's home town, visited at the parsonage Monday and Tuesday last week, leaving for home Wednesday morning early.

On the noon bus of above day, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Matter of Minneapolis, uncle and aunt of the pastor, arrived at Brainerd to spend a week with their relatives at Platte Lake. They returned on Monday afternoon taking the 4:40 o'clock bus. According to their own word they enjoyed every hour while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wohl, son Alvin, and company from Cloquet left for Cloquet Saturday to visit with friends. They returned Monday afternoon, accompanied with other friends from there.

Chas. Wohl returned from the Cities Friday. She will stay at home till after September 7, or Labor Day.

On Thursday of this week the Luther Leagues of Platte Lake and Hillman will have a joint outing at Shore Acres on Mille Lacs.

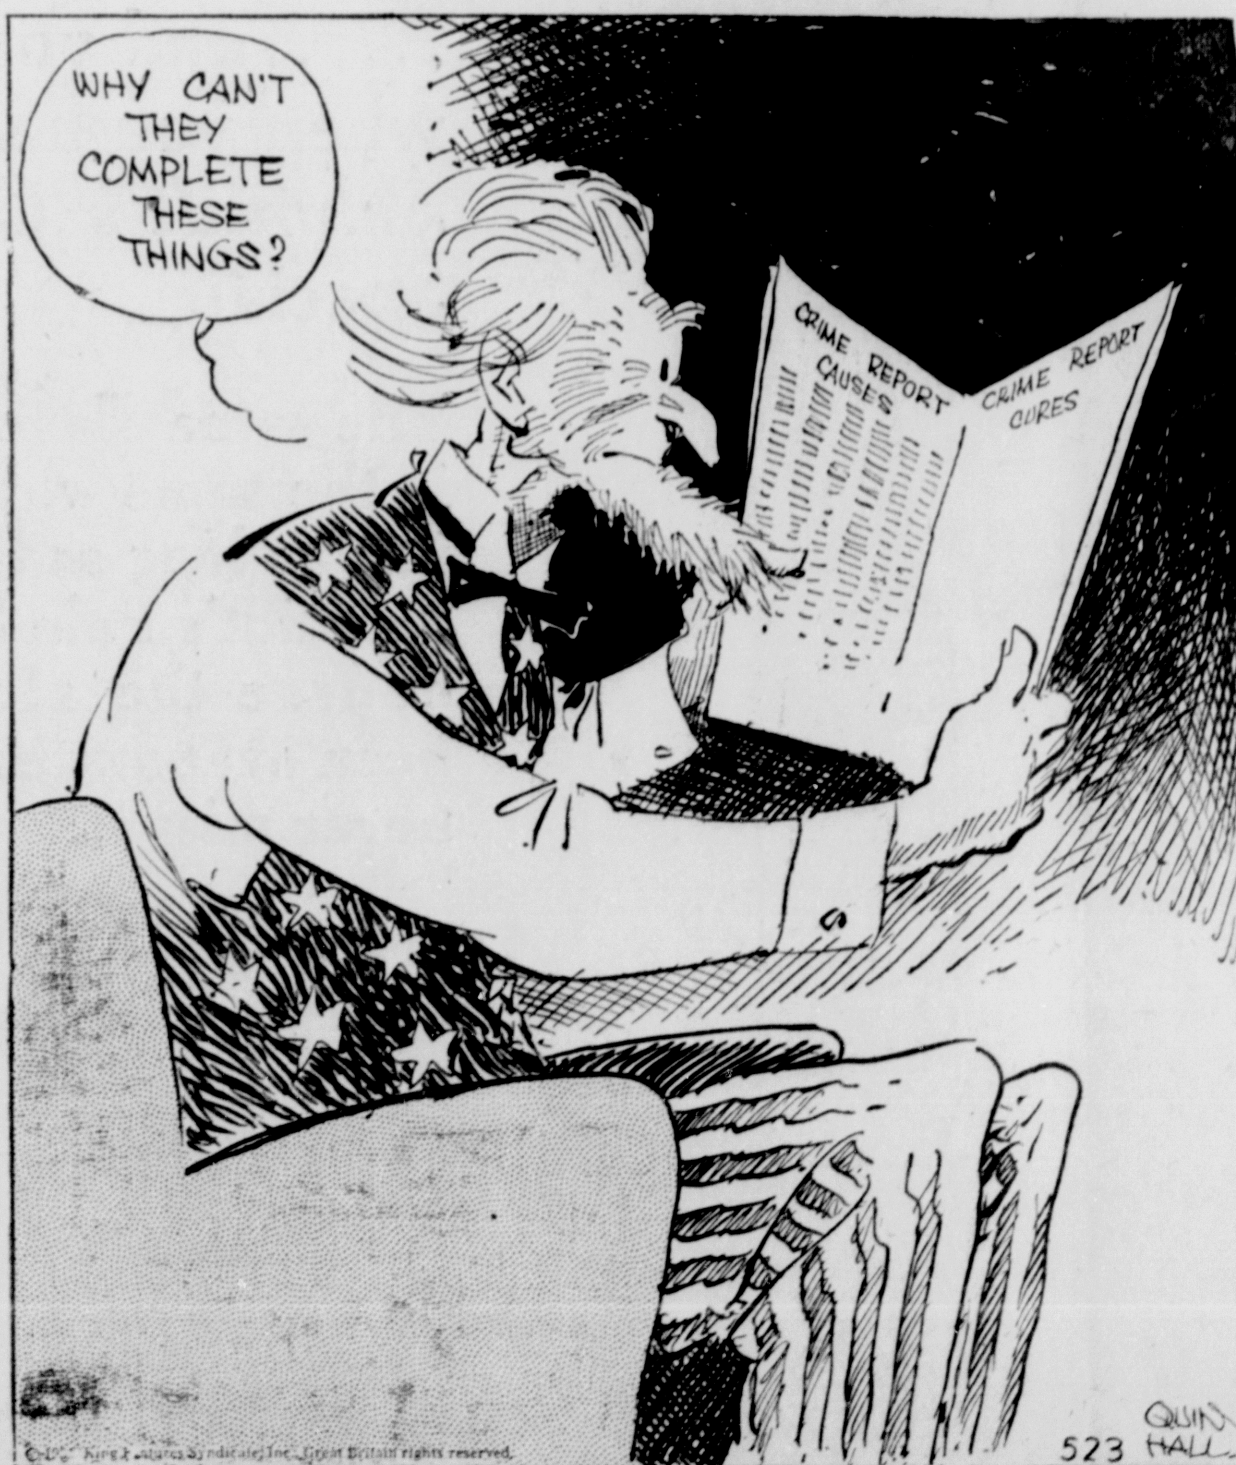

The Luther League's next regular meeting will be next week Friday. It is hoped to see as good attendance as heretofore.

MORE UNFINISHED BUSINESS

BELIEVE SOMEONE
HELPED WOLF IN
HIS EMBEZZLEMENT

MAN WHO TOOK OVER $1,500,000
DECLARES HE HAD NO
ACCOMPLICES

HARD TO BELIEVE $4,000 A YEAR
MAN WORKED 10 YEARS
WITHOUT DETECTION

Chicago, Sept. 3.—(UP)—Banking and insurance company officials hunted today through voluminous records for evidence that someone helped Walter E. Wolf embezzle more than $1,500,000 from the Continental-Illinois Bank & Trust Company.

"I had no accomplices," declared the 42-year-old model husband and neighbor, but the officials found it impossible to believe that for ten years this $4,000 a year bank employee could work entirely alone and escape detection as he squandered fortunes in the stock market.

Representatives of Lloyd's in London said they were convinced, however, that Wolf was not aided by any of the 50 men who worked under him in the coupon department of the fourth largest bank in America.

James R. Leavell and Abner J. Stillwell, president and vice-president of the $1,233,000,000 institution, also said they were convinced no other employee of the bank had been involved in the record smashing speculations, but considered it probable that someone outside the bank had aided Wolf in keeping secret his investment activities.

Wolf himself blamed fate and stock brokers for his troubles, but most of all he blamed himself.

"If I only could live the last ten years over again," he said.

It was said that not more than $500 of all the thousands Wolf embezzled was turned to his own use. The rest he lost in the markets. The bank put a large corps of men to work searching files of the last ten years to determine just how many securities had been taken out and to find evidence, if possible, that someone had aided Wolf.

Bank officials said Wolf admitted he was encouraged by brokers to plunge deeply into the markets in desperate efforts to win back his losses. He stole securities, it was charged, and put them up as margin.

POLITICAL FIGHT

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 3.—(UP)—A political fight which has divided the city council the past few months reached a climax today with the dismissal of C. A. Lammers, veteran city clerk and A. D. Abercrombie, city engineer.

The two officials were declared vacant September 30 and new appointments will be made some time this month, Mayor Peter Lund announced.

At the last municipal election in Stillwater, a new administration headed by Lund was elected on pledges to do some house-cleaning. No action was taken until a meeting last night when a motion to dismiss the two employees was passed with Lund casting the deciding vote.

Pretty Mary Lou Thurston pretends she is Delight Hartford to help Travers Lorrimer, shell-shocked son of the wealthy Margaret Lorrimer, regain his health.

Travers had mistaken Mary Lou for Delight, whom he is supposed to have married in England. No trace can be found of Delight.

Travers agrees to start all over with friendship. Months of happy companionship follow with Travers more in love with Delight than ever. At Christmas he presents Mary Lou with a sapphire ring, referring to her not wearing the "real" ring.

This leads Mary Lou to believe that he really married Delight, using a seal ring. Mary Lou loves Travers and finds deception hard. Travers and Mary Lou visit friends in Florida. Mrs. Lorrimer breaks her arm and they are called home. The memory of Delight prevents Mary Lou from revealing her love. She believes Travers loves her because he thinks she is Delight.

CHAPTER XXXIII

SPRING was coming to Westwood, veiling the bare trees in a pale and glamorous green. Spring flowers bloomed in the borders and there were great Russian violets, single heads of purple fragrance in the hot-houses.

Mary Lou had graduated from the mild and misleadingly named "Flapper," for Lorrimer, despite her protests, had bought her a new saddle horse, all her own, a delicious, velvet-nosed, large-eyed creature, with a coat of polished mahogany, named, for no good reason, "Lady Bountiful." And he was teaching Mary Lou to jump, down in the big paddock.

He himself was going to a Connecticut flying field several times a week and flying, with a pilot he had known in the old days. He was, once again, a student flier, looking forward to the day when he would solo. He was finding great exhilaration in it, and genuine happiness.

Beginning Again

"Everything's different," he told Mary Lou, "the ships are different, and I've forgotten more than I ever learned! But I can learn again!" he determined.

On his flying days, his mother—and Mary Lou as well—knew no peace until his car drove up to the door and honked its gay greeting to them both. He was driving a car again, another good sign. But neither woman gave him any sign of their fear and their loss of serenity while he was absent from them. He had to try his wings again. They had made up their minds to that. And—he was happy. That was all that mattered.

He'd been away from them for more than a day also, that Spring, going up to the Adirondacks to see Mac and coming back full of splendid reports of that staunch little fellow's grit and good progress. For Mac was going to get well, regardless, if only to show his gratitude to the man who had given him such an incentive in life, again.

The English revue came to town and Larry was busier than a one-armed paper hanger. He rushed either and yon and announced that he was certainly making good, having accomplished the feat of getting the revue in every paper in town for six consecutive days. And coming out to Westwood, in a blaze of self-glorification, he was so entranced with his success, and the further exciting fact that he had sold two full length stories to "big-time" magazines, that he rushed over to see Jenny, found her out in her kennels administering first aid to a sick Chow pup, and proposed to her then and there in an atmosphere of disinfectants and dog!

And, possibly because he said firmly: "Nor will I take 'no' for an answer. I'm not foolin', woman!" Jenny accepted him.

They weren't, they said, after breaking the news to the startled Wynnes, and coming to Westwood House to further spread the tidings, they weren't, they repeated, getting married for a year or so yet, "although," said Jenny, "I don't as a rule believe in long engagements."

A Worthy Goal.

And in that year Larry expected, or rather decided, to establish himself as a free lance writer, a novelist and a playwright. He thought, however, after a little chat with Mr. Wynne, that he'd manage to hang on to his newspaper job for a time, just in case editors didn't see things his way every time! And then, at the end of that rosy, indefinite period, he and Jenny would live, oh, not in Greenwich Village, but maybe on Brooklyn Heights, in one of those converted brownstone houses—"converted to what?" asked Lorrimer, laughing

"I envy those kids—they've everything they want, Delight."

And as she didn't answer, he urged, low compellingly: "I—I'm not breaking any promises, but how long are you going to keep me waiting—how long?" he asked, again.

To her utter consternation, amazement and anguish she began to cry—quite simply and heart-brokenly, like a child. Her little face was all distorted and the big tears ran unchecked down her pink cheeks.

They were, luckily, quite alone, in the morning room, the day after Jenny's engagement had been thus informally announced. Lorrimer was instantly contrite.

"Darling, don't. What is it? I didn't mean to hurt you. I can't stand seeing you cry—"

Recklessly, for all his promises, he took her in his arms and she yielded briefly to the blessed comfort of his strength about her and his lips on her hair, leaning her abused head against him and sobbing, quite quietly, but as if she couldn't stop.

"I haven't seen you cry," he mused, "since—since the day you came back to me. And I haven't

"Everything's different," he told Mary Lou, and I've forgotten more than I ever learned!"

—and Jenny would learn to type his manuscripts, as became an author's wife!

"She'll have to get along on lots today and nothing tomorrow," announced Larry sternly. "Champagne for breakfast—"

"I hate champagne, darling!" Jenny reminded him.

"Well, certified milk, then, and honey, and brown bread; and for tomorrow's dinner a dry crust. That's the life! For I won't," he said standing before the Westwood fireplace, and looking menacing, "for I won't live on your father's money. Not that he isn't a darned good scout, at that!" admitted Larry.

"How about mother's? Mother was a Lee," said Jenny, with an elfin grin. "Lee flour, you know. Self-rising."

"Nor on mother's either!" answered Larry firmly.

"Well," said Jenny with a sigh, "I'll supply the jam on the dry crust. After all, Larry, I've some of my own!"

So that was that. Mary Lou and Margaret and Lorrimer viewed the beglamored, ridiculous, dear couple with mingled emotions. Envy was uppermost, as far as Mary

Grace R. Fitch Alleges That Charles Novak Stole Hay Rake, Cultivator

A hay rake and a cultivator are rather bulky articles to carry away but such theft is what Grace R. Fitch accuses Charles Novak of in a complaint charging second degree larceny.

The complaint was presented in municipal court before Judge J. H. Warner this morning and the case was continued until this afternoon.

The warrant specifies that the theft occurred March 7, 1931, in Dean Lake township.

It is understood that Novak will offer a defense that he purchased the articles.

JUNIOR HIGH PLANS
GIVEN BY W. C. COBB

Superintendent of City Schools Addresses Rotary Club, Many Visitors Are Present

NEW AIMS IN EDUCATION

High School Should Prepare for Vocation in Life, Civic Duties, and Other Responsibilities

Supt. W. C. Cobb addressed the Rotary club and of particular interest was his reference to the Junior High School now building. The idea of a Junior High School is new in Brainerd, but not in other larger cities.

"We are putting up a building which when completed will be as much a matter of satisfaction, joy and pride as our regular high school," said Mr. Cobb.

Good progress is being made in construction work at the Junior High. It will accommodate approximately 500 pupils. It will have 15 or 16 rooms, auditorium, physical education rooms for boys and girls. In fact, style and material the Junior High will be as good as the present high school. It will provide industrial work for boys and girls, library, laboratory for first year in high school. It is contemplated to have 7th, 8th and 9th grades from that part of the city attending school and possibly a grade or two below from the second and third wards.

The contractors aim to complete their work the latter part of February and the board has allowed an additional month.

It is hoped that with the Junior High School in operation, more attention will be given to students during the earlier years from age 12 on so as to help boys and girls and their parents to prepare them for work to which they are adapted.

"There are too many students attending four years of high school," said Mr. Cobb. "At the universities at least 50 per cent of the students have no business to be there. They would be better off somewhere else."

He referred to an article in the April Atlantic Monthly which considered the status of the non-intellectual child. The author called attention to the ideas of old which held the province of secondary education or high schools to be preparation for college and preparation for the duties of life.

As a result of the conditions of the times universities and colleges are overcrowded. In the past high schools functioned largely in plan and studies to fit ten per cent of the pupils to attend college. Ninety per cent or the remainder at school never intended going to college or university.

The Junior High School should counteract such a tendency.

Opinions change as to value of college educations. In the eighties it was considered an asset in business life to have a college degree. Ever since the world war a change was noted and big business looked with favor on college men. The registrations at the universities mounted until now many institutions are overcrowded and have started a weeding out process.

The author laid down a definition of what education should do. There are four fundamentals which every high school should provide: To prepare for a vocation in life. To prepare for civic duties and the responsibilities of an American citizen. To prepare for family responsibility, as future fathers and mothers. To prepare pupils in school for their recreational activities to take up slack time after business hours.

Schools have given much attention to playgrounds and physical education. Gymnasiums cost a lot of money, but are worth it. The gymnasium at Brainerd High School is in constant use during the school year, from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

President Carl Zapffe called attention to the return of County Attorney A. J. Sullivan. He is on the way to complete recovery from his automobile accident.

Mr. Zapffe explained provisions of the constitution that permit a man after five years membership who goes on the retired list to continue as a past service member.

MORE UNFINISHED BUSINESS

BELIEVE SOMEONE
HELPED WOLF IN
HIS EMBEZZLEMENT

MAN WHO TOOK OVER $1,500,000
DECLARES HE HAD NO
ACCOMPLICES

HARD TO BELIEVE $4,000 A YEAR
MAN WORKED 10 YEARS
WITHOUT DETECTION

Chicago, Sept. 3.—(UP)—Banking and insurance company officials hunted today through voluminous records for evidence that someone helped Walter E. Wolf embezzle more than $1,500,000 from the Continental-Illinois Bank & Trust Company.

"I had no accomplices," declared the 42-year-old model husband and neighbor, but the officials found it impossible to believe that for ten years this $4,000 a year bank employee could work entirely alone and escape detection as he squandered fortunes in the stock market.

Representatives of Lloyd's in London said they were convinced, however, that Wolf was not aided by any of the 50 men who worked under him in the coupon department of the fourth largest bank in America.

James R. Leavell and Abner J. Stillwell, president and vice-president of the $1,123,000,000 institution, also said they were convinced no other employees of the bank had been involved in the record smashing speculations, but considered it probable that someone outside the bank had aided Wolf in keeping secret his investment activities.

Wolf himself blamed fate and stock brokers for his troubles, but most of all he blamed himself.

"If I only could live the last ten years over again," he said.

It was said that not more than $500 of all the thousands Wolf embezzled was turned to his own use. The rest he lost in the markets. The bank put a large corps of men to work searching files of the last ten years to determine just how many securities had been taken out and to find evidence, if possible, that someone had aided Wolf.

Bank officials said Wolf admitted he was encouraged by brokers to plunge deeply into the markets in desperate efforts to win back his losses. He stole securities, it was charged, and put them up as margin.

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 3.—(UP)—A political fight which has divided the city council the past few months reached a climax today with the dismissal of C. A. Lambers, veteran city clerk and A. D. Abercrombie, city engineer.

The two offices were declared vacant September 30 and new appointments will be made some time this month, Mayor Peter Lund announced.

Pretty Mary Lou Thurston pretends she is Delight Hartford to help Travers Lorrimer, shell-shocked son of the wealthy Margaret Lorrimer, regain his health.

Travers had mistaken Mary Lou for Delight, whom he is supposed to have married in England. No trace can be found of Delight.

Travers agrees to start all over with friendship. Months of happy companionship follow with Travers more in love with Delight than ever. At Christmas he presents Mary Lou with a sapphire ring, referring to her not wearing the "real" ring. This leads Mary Lou to believe that he really married Delight, using a seal ring. Mary Lou loves Travers and finds deception hard. Travers and Mary Lou visit friends in Florida. Mrs. Lorrimer breaks her arm and they are called home. The memory of Delight prevents Mary Lou from revealing her love. She believes Travers loves her because he thinks she is Delight.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

SPRING was coming to Westwood, veiling the bare trees in a pale and glamorous green, Spring flowers bloomed in the borders and there were great Russian violets, single heads of purple fragrance in the hot-houses.

Mary Lou had graduated from the mild and misleadingly named "Flapper," for Lorrimer, despite her protests, had bought her a new saddle horse, all her own, a delicious, velvet-nosed, large-eyed creature, with a coat of polished mahogany, named for good reason, "Lady Bountiful." And he was teaching Mary Lou to jump, down in the big paddock.

He himself was going to a Connecticut flying field several times a week and flying, with a pilot he had known in the old days. He was, once again, a student flier, looking forward to the day when he would solo. He was finding great exhilaration in it, and genuine happiness.

Beginning Again

"Everything's different," he told Mary Lou, "the ships are different, and I've forgotten more than I ever learned! But I can learn again!" he determined.

On his flying days, his mother—and Mary Lou as well—knew no peace until his car drove up to the door and honked its gay greeting to them both. He was driving a car again, another good sign. But neither woman gave him any sign of their fear and their loss of serenity while he was absent from them. He had to try his wings again. They had made up their minds to that. And he was happy. That was all that mattered.

He'd been away from them for more than a day also, that Spring, going up to the Adirondacks to see Mac and coming back full of splendid reports of that staunch little fellow's grit and good progress. For Mac was going to get well, regardless, if only to show his gratitude to the man who had given him such an incentive in life, again.

The English revue came to town and Larry was busier than a one-armed paper hanger. He rushed either and yon and announced that he was certainly making good, having accomplished the feat of getting the revue in every paper in town for six consecutive days. And coming out to Westwood, in a blaze of self-glorification, he was so entranced with his success, and the further exciting fact that he had sold two full length stories to "big-time" magazines, that he rushed over to see Jenny, found her out in her kennels administering first aid to a sick Chow pup, and proposed to her then and there in an atmosphere of disinfectants and dog!

And, possibly because he said firmly: "Nor will I take 'no' for an answer. I'm not foolin', woman!" Jenny accepted him.

They weren't, they said, after breaking the news to the startled Wynnes, and coming to Westwood House to further spread the tidings they weren't, they repeated, getting married for a year or so yet; "although," said Jenny, "I don't as a rule believe in long engagements."

A Worthy Goal.

And in that year Larry expected, or rather decided, to establish himself as a free lance writer, a novelist and a playwright. He thought, however, after a little chat with Mr. Wynne, that he'd manage to hang on to his newspaper job for a time, just in case editors didn't see things his way every time! And then, at the end of that rosy, indefinite period, he and Jenny would live, oh, not in Greenwich Village, but maybe on Brooklyn Heights, in one of those converted brownstone houses—"converted to what?" asked Lorrimer, laughing

"I envy those kids—they've everything they want, Delight."

And as she didn't answer, he urged, low compellingly:

"I—I'm not breaking any promises, but how long are you going to keep me waiting—how long?" he asked, again.

To her utter consternation, amazement and anguish she began to cry—quite simply and heart-brokenly, like a child. Her little face was all distorted and the big tears ran unchecked down her pink cheeks.

They were, luckily, quite alone, in the morning room, the day after Jenny's engagement had been thus informally announced. Lorrimer was instantly contrite.

"Darling, don't. What is it? I didn't mean to hurt you. I can't stand seeing you cry."

Recklessly, for all his promises, he took her in his arms and heartily yielded briefly to the blessed comfort of his strength about her and his lips on her hair, leaning her abashed head against him and sobbing, quite quietly, but as if she couldn't stop.

"I haven't seen you cry," he mused, "since—since the day you came back to me. And I haven't

"Everything's different," he told Mary Lou, and I've forgotten more than I ever learned."

—and Jenny would learn to type his manuscripts, as became an author's wife!

"She'll have to get along on lots today and nothing tomorrow," announced Larry sternly. "Champagne for breakfast—"

"I hate champagne, darling!" Jenny reminded him.

"Well, certified milk, then, and honey, and brown bread, and for tomorrow's dinner a dry crust. That's the life! For I won't," he said standing before the Westwood fireplace, and looking menacing, "for I won't live on your father's money. Not that he isn't a darned good scout, at that!" admitted Larry.

"How about mother's? Mother was a Lee," said Jenny, with an elfin grin. "Lee flour, you know. Self-rising."

"Nor on mother's either!" answered Larry firmly.

"Well," said Jenny with a sigh, "I'll supply the jam on the dry crust. After all, Larry, I've some of my own!"

So that was that. Mary Lou and Margaret and Lorrimer viewed the beglamored, ridiculous, dear couple with mingled

Thomas Murphy of Sanborn, N. D., is in the city renewing acquaintances with old timers. He is here with a son, William Murphy, who is in the Sanitarium with a fractured skull caused by a fall from the boom of a steam shovel at Jamestown about a week ago. Mr. Murphy, Sr., was a conductor on a work train out of Brainerd in 1871 and 1872. It is needless to say that he finds great changes in town.

L. U. White is at work drawing the plans for a new lath mill to be erected on the site of the old M. & I. shops by Wood & Polk of this city. The building will be of the latest modern design with all shafting placed below the machinery floor and all possible means will be taken to avoid danger of accidents. The main building will be 24 by 44 feet and two stories. It will stand on concrete piers reaching down through the made soil to solid ground. The first story of eight feet will be used for shaftings and pulleys alone and all machines will be on the upper floor and will be run from belts coming up through the floor. The logs will be taken directly from the river by an endless chain and all work possible will be done by machinery. The boiler room will be 16 by 30 feet, one story high.

The Barbers Union, or at least a good chunk of it, went hunting Sunday and Labor Day. There were six in the party and they bagged 93 birds. Those in the crowd were A. P. Cardle, Louis Stallman, Ed Stallman, S. P. Coffrain, Jim Dwyer and Gene Wood. C. W. Koering returned last night from Minneapolis where he went to attend the democratic state convention. Word has just been received of the death of Ernest Wunderlich in Alaska. They are bringing the body home for burial.

The Borden Lake school opened August 31 with Harold Einus as teacher. Mr. Ennis taught the school last year.

Mrs. Martin Hill and Mrs. Harold Meschke were callers at Mrs. John Dinwiddie's Sunday.

One day last week Irving and Emma Lingwall and Ida and Raymond Scott took a pleasure trip up around Duluth. All report a good time.

The Borden Lake kittenball team went to Brainerd Sunday to play ball. Borden Lake won with the score 14 to 13.

Frost hit around Garrison Saturday night but was rather light so didn't do much damage.

EAST ROUND LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benjamin and Mrs. Lottie Finnigan were Sunday guests to dinner at their brother, Mr. and Mrs. George Hill of Midland and supper guests at another brother's home, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hill at old Garrison.

Mrs. Lottie Finnigan left for her home at Crystal Lake, Minn. Thursday. She enjoyed her visit very much. Her sister, Mrs. F. Benjamin accompanied her as far as Brainerd.

Mrs. Clarence Knowlen moved in a cottage of Thomas Scott's Thursday to be near the school.

Clarence Knowlen is working for the O'Neill brothers on a piece of road north of Aitkin.

Mr. Benjamin threshed Wednesday.

Miss Isla Scott is helping her aunt, Mrs. A. R. Knowlen for a few weeks.

Mrs. Thomas Scott had her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Amiel Hanson and children at Midland as guests Thursday.

Mrs. Seth of Cold Spring Lodge on north shore was shopping in Brainerd Friday.

Some Indians from the trading post are gathering rice in Rice Lake and have their picturesque teepees set up on west shore of East Round Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Willis and Miss Elmer Schley of Brainerd were supper guests at the Linden house Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Knowlen, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Workman of Twin Lakes and Mrs. J. N. Francis attended the Aitkin fair. It was very good.

The brothers and sisters of Earnest Wunderlich near Miller Lake received a message that he passed away Aug. 28 due to a hemorrhage caused by a knife slipping in and cutting an artery while he was at work.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey of north shore Round Lake were guests at the Blackburn's Sunday.

As Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson, Mrs. Earl Borden and Miss Ada Wunderlich were coming home from Brainerd Saturday evening they met a car with such glaring headlights that Mr. Nelson could not see the car at all and in trying to keep as far out on his side as he could he ran off the road into the ditch near the eight mile corner. He was not driving fast so they only got bumped a little. Those headlights should surely be attended to in some way.

LES BOLSTAD PLAYS HOWELL IN NATIONAL GOLF TOURNEY

PAIRINGS FOR 36-HOLE QUARTER FINALS GIVEN OUT

PAUL JACKSON, OF KANSAS CITY, PLAYS FRANCIS QUIMET, BOSTON

IN LOWER BRACKET YATES VS. WESTLAND; AND MCCARTHY VS. COLEMAN

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)
Beverly Country Club, Chicago, Sept. 3.—Pairings for today's 36-hole quarter-final matches follow:
Upper bracket—
Billy Howell, Richmond, Va., vs. Lester Bolstad, St. Paul.
Paul Jackson, Kansas City, vs. Francis Quimet, Boston.
Lower bracket—
Arthur Yates, Rochester, N. Y., vs. Jack Westland, Chicago.
Maurice McCarthy, New York, vs. Fay Coleman, Culver City, Calif.

Beverly Country Club, Chicago, Sept. 3.—Only Francis Quimet, Boston veteran, and Arthur (Duck) Yates, Rochester, N. Y., campaigner, remained in the National Amateur Golf championship today to stem the rising tide of youngsters who swept through the first two rounds of match play yesterday.

Quimet, National Open champion in 1913 and National Amateur champion in 1914, and Yates, holder of no titles but long time golfer, carried the standard of the "old guard" into today's 36-hole quarter-final matches.

Arrayed solidly against them were six youthful contenders ranging in age from 18 to 26. Three of the six have never qualified before in a National Amateur, and two of them are playing in their first national tournament.

Leading this band of young stars in the quest for the title relinquished by Bobby Jones were Billy Howell, 18, Richmond, Va., and Paul Jackson, 21, Kansas City, Mo.

Unheard of outside his own bailiwick until this tournament, Howell, slim, blonde-haired southerner who holds the Mid-Atlantic and Virginia state titles, has been labelled a "future champion" by competent golf judges who have seen him swing a golf club these few days at Beverly. Howell's victims in yesterday's play were Johnny Goodman, Omaha, Neb., who conquered Bobby Jones at Pebble Beach, and Owen Covey, Salt Lake City. He beat Goodman 1 up and Covey, 4 and 2.

Jackson, who boasted of the Kansas City championship when he arrived at Beverly, proved his mettle by eliminating Johnny Lehman, Chicago, who tied for medalist honors, and Frederick J. Wright, West Newton, Mass., former member of the Walker Cup team, both 1 up. Lehman rounded the turn 3 up on Jackson who shot a par 35 coming back to win on the 18th green.

The other members of the young group who took their toll of veterans in the two rounds yesterday were Lester Bolstad, 23, St. Paul; Maurice McCarthy, 24, New York; Fay Coleman, 25, Culver City, Calif.; and Jack Westland, 26, Chicago.

Bolstad, former Big Ten champion, stayed in the running after a tough battle with Dick Martin, present Big Ten champion, who put out George Voight, veteran New Yorker, in the first round, 2 and 1. Martin carried Bolstad 19 holes before the latter won 1 up. They finished their match in a rain-storm which swept over the course when five of the eight second-round matches were still in play.

McCarthy fought back from the brink of defeat in the first round when he found himself 4 down to Russ Martin at the end of nine holes. A magnificent 34, one under par, on the second nine enabled McCarthy to win 1 up, and he easily conquered R. Emmett Spicer, Memphis, Tenn., 5 and 3, in the second round.

After C. Ross Somerville, London, Ont., Canadian amateur champion, had eliminated Gene Homans, Englewood, N. J., runner-up to Bobby Jones last year, in the first round, it was Coleman who stopped Somerville's match with a 4-3 victory in the second round.

Westland's two victims were Sam Parks, Jr., Pittsburgh, 4 and 2, and George T. Dunlap, Jr., Garden City, N. Y., intercollegiate champion the past two years, 3 and 2.

Quimet was the only player who did not have at least some difficulty gaining the quarter-finals. The Boston veteran trimmed Johnny Shields, Seattle, Wash., 4 and 3, and subdued Frank Connolly, Mt. Clemens, Mich., 5 and 4. The 265-pound Yates won a nip and tuck struggle from Charley Seaver, Los Angeles, who tied with Yates and Lehman for the medal, 1 up, and from Carey Bellew, Kansas City, 6 and 4. Yates' 30-foot chip shot into the cup for a birdie three on the 390-yard thirteenth in his match with Seaver has been called the greatest shot of the tournament.

Delicious Pomegranate
The fruit of the pomegranate is filled with numerous purple and red seeds, each inclosed in a layer of pulp. This pulp is used to make a refreshing drink and in some countries is made into wine.

Antagonist Is Your Helper

MISS MOLSTAD TO BID FOR FURTHER TENNIS LAURELS

BRAINERD STAR IS ONE OF THE LEADING COMPETITORS FOR CENTRAL STATE TITLE

ENGAGES IN LADIES' TOURNAMENT AT ST. CLOUD SUNDAY; HAS GOOD CHANCE

When the Central Minnesota Girls' Tennis Tournament is played Sunday, Sept. 6, at the St. Anthony Park courts at St. Cloud, entrants will find in Miss Irene Molstad of Brainerd a serious threat for the championship.

Miss Molstad's fame as a tennis star is well known to girl players in Central Minnesota. She won the singles championship at the St. Cloud Teachers' College in 1929 and 1931 and captured the singles tennis championship for the summer school session at the college in 1929.

Miss Molstad's opponents will find her service a hard hitting ball that will be difficult to return. Likewise in returns she plays a consistent game, relying on clever placings and if in position, will return the ball at a fast pace. The star will be hard to beat.

SECOND GAME OF SERIES TO BE PLAYED FRIDAY AFTERNOON FOR CITY HONORS

South Side and Northeast swapped two innings of hitting, errors, base stealing and scoring, and the first game of the play-off series for the city championship ended in the fading light of last evening with South Side on top, 5 to 3.

The Northeast team made an early bid for the game. It scored all its runs in the first half of the second inning. Came the last half of the fourth inning—South Side's big moment! When the smoke cleared, five South Side men had crossed the home base and the Northeast Brainerd band played less cheerfully, and the din of cheering from the Northeast boosters died. The next inning went scoreless and the game closed at the end of the first half of the sixth inning because of darkness.

South Side demonstrated superior baseball in the initial clash. Northeast today determined to even matters by grabbing tomorrow night's game and force a play-off Sunday afternoon.

Northeast's three runs in the second were accounted for when the team took advantage of a wavering in the ranks of South Side. Franks, S. S. hurler, improved as the game continued and his support was better.

Nutting started off the hitting rally for South Side. He hit to second and got on first on an error. The center fielder who played a star game in center field, then pilfered the second and third bases. Lorrie Swanson and Bush each got bases on balls and Granny Loom drove through second to bring Nutting and Swanson home. Loom stole second when the catcher threw to first. Lou Hanson hit a hard drive into right field for two bases to score Swanson who ran for Loom. Richmond replaced Rasch in the pitcher's box. Bernard was thrown out at first on a sacrifice, Hanson going to third. Alec Thompson fled out to left field and on a wild throw home, Hanson scored as the first baseman, backing the catcher, threw wild. Tribur fled out to shortstop.

Franks struck out nine men and won his fourth game out of five from Northeast this season. He will pitch again on Friday and will be opposed by Jarboe.

CHICAGO CUBS MAY HIT CELLAR OF FIRST DIVISION

THIRD PLACE IS THE BEST THE CUBS CAN HOPE FOR THIS SEASON

GIANTS DOUBLE VICTORY GIVES THEM CLEAN SWEEP OF A 5 GAME SERIES

By L. S. CAMERON (United Press Sports Editor)
New York, Sept. 3.—(U.P.)—The once proud Chicago Cubs today were in imminent danger of dropping to the bottom of the first division in the national league.

If Chicago loses to the Cincinnati Reds today and the Brooklyn Robins take the measure of the New York Giants, the Cubs and Robins will be tied for third place.

This place, apparently, is all the Cubs can hope to gain this season. Their double defeat at the hands of the Boston Braves, left the New Yorkers six and one-half games out in front.

Leo Durocher and Harvey Hendrick, Cincinnati infielders, were the principal reasons for the Reds' 7-4 and 8-4 victories. Durocher rapped out six hits in the two games, while Hendrick came through with four.

The Giants' double victory gave them a clean sweep of the five game series. Hubbell pitched the Giants to a 9 to 2 win in the first game.

New York took the nightcap 3 to 1 behind the strong pitching of Bud Parmelee, who allowed but four hits.

The other national league clubs were not scheduled.

Play in the American league saw both contenders for second place come through with victories, the Washington Senators defeating the Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 2, while the New York Yankees nosed out the Boston Red Sox 7 to 6.

Alvin Crowder limited the world-champions to six hits. Philadelphia did not get a runner to second until the ninth inning.

After spotting the Red Sox a five run lead, the Yankees came from behind to win.

Detroit and St. Louis divided a doubleheader, the Tigers taking the opener 7 to 3, and losing the second 5 to 4. Sorrell and Blalocker were the winning pitchers.

Urban Red Faber pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 3 to 2 win over the Cleveland Indians in the first game of a twin bill. The second game ended in a 4-4 tie when called on account of darkness at the end of the sixth.

GEORGE YOUNG WINS QUEST FOR SWIMMING TITLE

VICTOR IN CANADIAN NATIONAL 15-MILE SWIMMING MARATHON

STOCKY YOUNG TORONTO SWIMMER WON CATALINE CHANNEL SWIM IN 1927

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 3.—(U.P.)—George Young's four-year quest for victory in the Canadian national exhibition's 15-mile swimming marathon—recognized as a world's championship test—is at an end.

The stocky young Toronto swimmer, winner of the 1927 Cataline channel swim, added the Toronto race to his laurels yesterday and captured the $10,000 prize for first place.

William F. Goll of New York, finishing in the money for the second consecutive season, was the only other survivor of the field of 200 entrants and took second place money of $2,500.

Young had a lead of more than a mile at the finish. He collapsed after crossing the finish line, but his handlers brought him back to consciousness. His time was 8:08:28.

Warren Anderson, Sydney, N. S., was taken from the water more than 12 hours after the start of the race. He was the last to leave the water and officials awarded him third prize money of $1,000.

CANZONERI HAS EYES ON HOLDING 5 BOXING TITLES

HAS WON 4 WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIPS AND SEEKS ONE MORE

WANTS TO FIGHT PETROLLE, KID CHOCOLATE AND THEN TAKE ON BENNY BASS

By DIXON STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent)
Mme. Bey's Camp, Summit, N. J., Sept. 3.—(U.P.)—Not satisfied with being the only boxer ever to win four world's championships, Tony Canzoneri now is turning his attention to a more difficult goal—the simultaneous holding of five titles.

The 22-year-old Brooklyn Italian, who started boxing as an amateur in New Orleans more than ten years ago, told of his ambition for the first time today in an interview with the United Press.

"After I prove my right to the lightweight and junior-welterweight titles which I now hold by beating Jack (Kid) Berg at the Polo grounds next Thursday, I'll be ready to meet Billy Petrolle, the only other serious contender for these titles," said Canzoneri. "Then I'd like to go back into the featherweight class and fight Kid Chocolate for the championship and take on Benny Bass for the junior-lightweight crown."

"If I regain those titles, and I'm sure I can, I'll see Manager Goldman to get me a shot at Welterweight Champion Jack Thompson."

"I still can make the featherweight limit although I've been fighting among the lightweights ever since I lost the 126-pound title to Andre Routis in 1928. I weighed only 129-pounds when I knocked out Berg at Chicago in April and I wasn't even trying to get down then. When I win the five titles, I'll be satisfied. I can't make the bantam weight limit and never will hold that title although I got a draw in a championship fight with Bud Taylor when he held the title. And I guess the middleweights are a little too big for me, unless I pick up a lot of pounds before I get too old to fight any more."

Canzoneri's program sounds overly ambitious for a fighter who was rated as a "has been" a year ago, but Tony's impressive workouts for the Berg fight have convinced his associates that he is capable of reaching his goal.

Although he was considered "all washed up" after losing to Kid Berg and Billy Petrolle last year, Canzoneri showed that his slump was only temporary when he came back to win the lightweight title by knocking out Al Singer last November and the junior-welter crown by knocking out Berg at Chicago in April.

Canzoneri is a much better fighter now than when he held the featherweight title three years ago. Although he has been fighting for ten years he apparently is just attaining his full prowess.

KANSAS CITY CLUB SQUEEZES OUT A PAIR OF VICTORIES

DEFEATS INDIANAPOLIS TO GAIN A FEW POINTS ON ST. PAUL

FIRST GAME GOES 14 INNINGS, 3 PITCHERS TOLLING FOR EACH TEAM

(By United Press)
The second place Kansas City club yesterday squeezed out a pair of victories over Indianapolis to gain a few points on the St. Paul Saints, who are showing the way in the American Association race with an apparently safe margin.

Scores of the Kansas City victories were 8 to 7 and 4 to 3. The second game was called at the end of the fifth inning on account of darkness. The first game went 14 innings. Three pitchers toiled for each team. Donohue got credit for the victory. Bayne was the winner in the second game.

St. Paul divided a double bill with Columbus, 2 to 3 and 6 to 5. Grabowski was the winning Columbus hurler, while Harris, a relief moundsman, got credit for the St. Paul victory.

Minneapolis won a double victory from the Toledo Mudhens, 1 to 0 and 4 to 3. Miller and Walsh being the winning pitchers.

In the other game Poli outlasted two Louisville hurlers and won a game for Milwaukee, 4 to 3.

Washougal, Wash., in less than three minutes.

Lenhart, 188, of Portland, stayed in the ring with the former world's champion for the full two rounds, but it was evident to spectators that Dempsey could have scored a third knockout had he desired.

Defying Champ of Champs

By HARDIN BURNELY

RODIM CORBETT AND "FITZ" BOTH MADE GOOD COMEBACKS AFTER LONG LAY-OFFS!

FATHER TIME has never been stopped, some champions have stalled off his subtle attacks for years, a few have retired before his steady assault doomed them to defeat, but—in the long run—the Old Man with the Scythe scores a final K. O. against 'em all.

Benny Leonard, retired world's lightweight champion, is the latest to defy Daddy Time under the canny auspices of Jack Kearns, America's foremost master of the craft of boxing ballyhoo. Having thrust 30-year-old Mickey Walker, "an overstuffed middleweight," into the heavyweight title lists, the Ol' Doc who once piloted Jack Dempsey is hoping to land another championship with Leonard.

The newspapers generally are rather kind to Kearns but this time he's tackling something that is being severely criticized in most sport columns because the impression is strong that Leonard—at 35 and after seven years of restful retirement—is too old and too rusty to do anything now but spoil glowing memories of his glorious championship days. Rated as one of the greatest lightweights of all time, Leonard was beginning to take on weight even before he retired in 1924. He had won the title from Freddie Welsh in 1917 and had been boxing since 1912. When retiring, it was announced that Benny did so in deference to his mother's fears and wishes. She is still living.

According to Kearns and others, Leonard weighed about 170 when he started light secret training early this Summer. After twelve weeks, it was announced, he'd gotten down to 145. As Benny's bulk lessens, Kearns' ballyhoo grows despite rebuffs from the boxing boards of Illinois and New Jersey which block Leonard's efforts to stage comebacks in those States. They're readying Benny for another money shot for which the Ol' Doc's golden cymbals are echoing in many of the press and elsewhere.

Dreams of Leonard's $163,000 take from his second bout with Lew Tander—that was more than Max Schmeling got for beating Bill Stribling recently! No wonder the cacophonous Kearns is attempting the miracle of a real ring resurrection!!

LES BOLSTAD PLAYS HOWELL IN NATIONAL GOLF TOURNEY

PAIRINGS FOR 36-HOLE QUARTER FINALS GIVEN OUT

PAUL JACKSON, OF KANSAS CITY, PLAYS FRANCIS QUIMET, BOSTON

IN LOWER BRACKET YATES VS. WESTLAND; AND MCCARTHY VS. COLEMAN

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Beverly Country Club, Chicago, Sept. 3.—Pairings for today's 36-hole quarter-final matches follow:

Upper bracket—
Billy Howell, Richmond, Va., vs. Lester Bolstad, St. Paul.
Paul Jackson, Kansas City, vs. Francis Quimet, Boston.
Lower bracket—
Arthur Yates, Rochester, N. Y., vs. Jack Westland, Chicago.
Maurice McCarthy, New York, vs. Fay Coleman, Culver City, Calif.

Beverly Country Club, Chicago, Sept. 3.—Only Francis Quimet, Boston veteran, and Arthur (Duck) Yates, Rochester, N. Y., campaigner, remained in the National Amateur Golf championship today to stem the rising tide of youngsters who swept through the first two rounds of match play yesterday.

Quimet, National Open champion in 1913 and National Amateur champion in 1914, and Yates, holder of no titles but long time golfer, carried the standard of the "old guard" into today's 36-hole quarter-final matches.

Arrayed solidly against them were six youthful contenders ranging in age from 18 to 26. Three of the six have never qualified before in a National Amateur, and two of them are playing in their first national tournament.

Leading this band of young stars in the quest for the title relinquished by Bobby Jones were Billy Howell, 18, Richmond, Va., and Paul Jackson, 21, Kansas City, Mo.

Unheard of outside his own ballclub until this tournament, Howell, slim, blonde-haired southerner who holds the Mid-Atlantic and Virginia state titles, has been labelled a "future champion" by competent golf judges who have seen him swing a golf club these few days at Beverly. Howell's victims in yesterday's play were Johnny Goodman, Omaha, Neb., who conquered Bobby Jones at Pebble Beach, and Owen Covey, Salt Lake City. He beat Goodman 1 up and Covey, 4 and 2.

Jackson, who boasted of the Kansas City championship when he arrived at Beverly, proved his mettle by eliminating Johnny Lehman, Chicago, who tied for medalist honors, and Frederick J. Wright, West Newton, Mass., former member of the Walker Cup team, both 1 up. Lehman rounded the turn 3 up on Jackson who shot a par 35 coming back to win on the 18th green.

The other members of the young group who took their toll of veterans in the two rounds yesterday were Lester Bolstad, 23, St. Paul; Maurice McCarthy, 24, New York; Fay Coleman, 25, Culver City, Calif.; and Jack Westland, 26, Chicago.

Bolstad, former Big Ten champion, stayed in the running after a tough battle with Dick Martin, present Big Ten champion, who put out George Voight, veteran New Yorker, in the first round, 2 and 1. Martin carried Bolstad 19 holes before the latter won 1 up. They finished their match in a rain-storm which swept over the course when five of the eight second-round matches were still in play.

McCarthy fought back from the brink of defeat in the first round when he found himself 4 down to Russ Martin at the end of nine holes. A magnificent 34, one under par, on the second nine enabled McCarthy to win 1 up, and he easily conquered R. Emmett Spicer, Memphis, Tenn., 5 and 3, in the second round.

After C. Ross Somerville, London, Ont., Canadian amateur champion, had eliminated Gene Homans, Englewood, N. J., runner-up to Bobby Jones last year, in the first round, it was Coleman who stopped Somerville's match with a 4-3 victory in the second round.

Westland's two victims were Sam Parks, Jr., Pittsburgh, 4 and 2, and George T. Dunlap, Jr., Garden City, N. Y., intercollegiate champion the past two years, 3 and 2.

Quimet was the only player who did not have at least some difficulty gaining the quarter-finals. The Boston veteran trimmed Johnny Shields, Seattle, Wash., 4 and 3, and subdued Frank Connolly, Mt. Clemens, Mich., 5 and 4.

The 268-pound Yates won a nip and tuck struggle from Charley Seaver, Los Angeles, who tied with Yates and Lehman for the medal, 1 up, and from Carey Bellew, Kansas City, 6 and 4. Yates' 30-foot chip shot into the cup for a birdie three on the 390-yard thirteenth in his match with Seaver has been called the greatest shot of the tournament.

ENGAGES IN LADIES' TOURNAMENT AT ST. CLOUD SUNDAY; HAS GOOD CHANCE

When the Central Minnesota Girls' Tennis Tournament is played Sunday, Sept. 6, at the St. Anthony Park courts at St. Cloud, entrants will find in Miss Irene Bolstad of Brainerd a serious threat for the championship.

Miss Bolstad's fame as a tennis star is well known to girl players in Central Minnesota. She won the singles championship at the St. Cloud Teachers College in 1929 and 1931 and captured the singles tennis championship for the summer school session at the college in 1929.

Miss Bolstad's opponents will find her service a hard hitting ball that will be difficult to return. Likewise in returns she plays a consistent game, relying on clever placings and if in position, will return the ball at a fast pace. The star will be hard to beat.

CANZONERI HAS EYES ON HOLDING 5 BOXING TITLES

HAS WON 4 WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIPS AND SEEKS ONE MORE

WANTS TO FIGHT PETROLLE, KID CHOCOLATE AND THEN TAKE ON BENNY BASS

By DIXON STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Mme. Bey's Camp, Summit, N. J., Sept. 3.—(UP)—Not satisfied with being the only boxer ever to win four world's championships, Tony Canzoneri now is turning his attention to a more difficult goal—the simultaneous holding of five titles.

The 22-year-old Brooklyn Italian, who started boxing as an amateur in New Orleans more than ten years ago, told of his ambition for the first time today in an interview with the United Press.

"After I prove my right to the lightweight and junior-welterweight titles which I now hold by beating Jack (Kid) Berg at the Polo grounds next Thursday, I'll be ready to meet Billy Petrolle, the only other serious contender for these titles," said Canzoneri. "Then I'd like to go back into the featherweight class and fight Kid Chocolate for the championship and take on Benny Bass for the junior-lightweight crown."

"If I regain those titles, and I'm sure I can, I'll see Manager Goldman to get me a shot at Welterweight Champion Jack Thompson."

"I still can make the featherweight limit although I've been fighting among the lightweights ever since I lost the 126-pound title to Andre Routis in 1928. I weighed only 129-pounds when I knocked out Berg at Chicago in April."

Canzoneri's program sounds overly ambitious for a fighter who was rated as a "has been" a year ago, but Tony's impressive workouts for the Berg fight have convinced his associates that he is capable of recapturing his goal.

Although he was considered "all washed up" after losing to Kid Berg and Billy Petrolle last year, Canzoneri showed that his slump was only temporary when he came back to win the lightweight title by knocking out Al Singer last November and the junior-welter crown by knocking out Berg at Chicago in April.

Canzoneri is a much better fighter now than when he held the featherweight title three years ago. Although he has been fighting for ten years he apparently is just attaining his full prowess.

KANSAS CITY CLUB SQUEEZES OUT A PAIR OF VICTORIES

DEFEATS INDIANAPOLIS TO GAIN A FEW POINTS ON ST. PAUL

FIRST GAME GOES 14 INNINGS, 3 PITCHERS TOLLING FOR EACH TEAM

(By United Press)

The second place Kansas City club yesterday squeezed out a pair of victories over Indianapolis to gain a few points on the St. Paul Saints, who are showing the way in the American Association race with an apparently safe margin.

Scores of the Kansas City victories were 8 to 7 and 4 to 3. The second game was called at the end of the fifth inning on account of darkness. The first game went 14 innings. Three pitchers toiled for each team. Donohue got credit for the victory. Bayne was the winner in the second game.

St. Paul divided a double bill with Columbus, 2 to 3 and 6 to 5. Grabowski was the winning Columbus hurler, while Harris, a relief moundman, got credit for the St. Paul victory.

Minneapolis won a double victory from the Toledo Mudhens, 1 to 0 and 4 to 3. Miller and Walsh being the winning pitchers.

In the other game Polli outlasted two Louisville hurlers and won a game for Milwaukee, 4 to 3.

Washougal, Wash., in less than three minutes.

Lenhart, 188, of Portland, stayed in the ring with the former world's champion for the full two rounds, but it was evident to spectators that Dempsey could have scored a third knock-out had he desired.

Defying Champ of Champs

By HARDIN BURNLEY

FOR JIM CORBETT AND "FITZ" BOTH MADE GOOD COMEBACKS AFTER LONG LAY-OFFS!

FATHER TIME has never been stopped, some champions have stalled off his subtle attacks for years, a few have retired before his steady assault doomed them to defeat, but—in the long run—the Old Man with the Scythe scores a final K. O. against 'em all.

Benny Leonard, retired world's lightweight champion, is the latest to defy Daddy Time under the canny auspices of Jack Kearns, America's foremost master of the craft of boxing ballyhoo. Having thrust 30-year-old Mickey Walker, an overstuffed middleweight, into the heavyweight title lists, the Ol' Doc who once piloted Jack Dempsey is hoping to land another championship with Leonard.

According to Kearns and others, Leonard weighed about 170 when he started light secret training early this Summer. After twelve weeks, it was announced, he'd gotten down to 145. As Benny's bulk lessens, Kearns' ballyhoo grows despite rebuffs from the boxing boards of Illinois and New Jersey which block Leonard's efforts to stage comebacks in those States. They're readying Benny for another money shot for which the Ol' Doc's golden cymbals are echoing in many of the press and elsewhere.

Dreams of Leonard's $163,000 take from his second bout with Lew Tendler—that was more than Max Schmeling got for beating Bill Stribling recently! No wonder the cacophonous Kearns is attempting the miracle of a real ring resurrection!!
